JAPAN TO DEMAND ADMISSION OF JAPS TO UNITED STATES

Contention for Right of Japanese to Emigrate to and Own Land in This Country to Be Renewed.

FIGHT TO BE RENEWED WHEN GREAT WAR ENDS

Japanese Embassy Frankly Admits Purpose of Home Government — Japan Insists Removal of Restrictions Is Necessary to Her Statehood.

Washington, September 27.—Japan's purpose to renew after the European war her contention for the right of her people to emigrate to and own land in the United States, suggested in New York yesterday by Baron Yoshio Sakatani, former finance minister in the Tokyo cabinet, was frankly admitted today at the Japanese embassy. Negotiations over these questions, which came to a deadlock two years ago, are not regarded by Japan as concluded. It was explained, but merely postponed while the larger issues of the war are being dealt with.

The deadlock followed a long series of conferences between former Secretary Bryan and Baron Chinda, then the Japanese ambassador, and an exchange of notes between the two governments over the alien land legislation enacted by California. After the state department had pointed out under its constitution the United States government could not more than seek to prevent such legislation and that persons affected by it had recourse to the federal courts, Japan closed the exchanges with a note saying her complaint had not been answered and reserving "for the present further discussion of the issue."

Position of Japan.

It has been generally assumed that the issue would remain in abeyance until while Japan was occupied with the war, but until now no one in a position to speak with authority has said so. There will be no formal discussion of the subject at least until the arrival of the new ambassador, Dr. Amoro Sato, who was appointed when Baron Chinda was transferred to London, and who is expected in Washington in a few months.

The position of the Japanese government, according to informal statements by embassy officials, still is that restrictions on immigration and land holding are not only derogatory to her dignity, but are unjust under international law in that they are discriminatory against her in favor of other nations. Removal of these restrictions, it is explained, is regarded as Japan's third and final step in her rise to statehood, the first two being the abolition of extraterritoriality and the negotiation of commercial equality treaties.

The embassy believes the renewal will be most friendly in character, officials declaring good relations with this country are looked upon as combining with Japan's vital interests in China and the alliance with England, to form the three cardinal points of Japanese foreign policy. Japan's present strained relations with China regarding the Cheng Chiatun clash the embassy expects to be settled shortly in a way satisfactory to both sides.

Japan and the Trade War.

Japanese policy towards the proposed trade war after the war will be outlined here Friday with the visit of Baron Sakatani, who is just back from the recent allied economic conference at Paris. The baron will be entertained at lunch by James Brown

Georgia Is Offered Chance to Increase Riches of the State

Italian Writes Governor That "Oranges With the Eatable Bark," Lemons, Olives, Mulberry Trees and Vineyards Should Flourish Here.

If Carlo Albanese di Filippo, an Italian gentleman, who is temporarily residing in Marseilles, France, has his way, Georgia will soon be better known for its "oranges with the eatable bark," lemons, olives, mulberry trees and vineyards than for its cotton and corn.

A plan to completely revolutionize Georgia agriculture is proposed in two letters sent by him to Governor Harris. Whatever may be thought of the naïveté of the writer's Italian-English, there can certainly be no dispute as to his earnestness and good will.

His opening sentence gives assurance of the magnitude of the plan which he has worked out. "I have the honor to send you this letter," he begins, "because as governor certainly you wish that the progress in your country, increasing the private and the commonwealth, can manifest with all his forms and with new energies." His proposition is an "agricultural-industrial exploitation of the state," which he elucidates as follows:

Oranges With Eatable Bark.

"This agricultural-industrial exploitation will comprehend the culture of different specialties of trees: oranges with the eatable bark and oranges sweet more than the sugar; mandarins for the comestible and industrial use; bergamots for the extraction of the industrial oil; one specialty of eatable lemon called in my country limoncello—a tree producing very perfumed fruits of delicate taste. I have in mind also to plant the mulberry trees and to undertake the industry of the silk; to plant there one specialty of vine giving very celebrated wines; to introduce the culture of the olives and other fruit trees, proper to the climate of the Georgia's state."

The writer offers to furnish the governor with free samples of all the trees mentioned and he has even gone so far as to work out an exact schedule of years during which the revolution of Georgia's agriculture is to be brought about. He says:

"I have in mind to plant the vineyard from which three years after we have products; five years after we can undertake the industry of the silk; ten years after all the trees (citrus species) will give fruits, and fifteen years after we can produce the first American olive oil."

Can Educate Trees.

He goes on:

"How we can arrive in so short time to obtain products when the common cultures want one long period of years? The answer is: by the use of the modern agronomic investigations what grows more proper for that established cultures and he educates the trees with all the most scientific methods. There explains the secret."

He does not believe it will take much money to start his plan a-going, but, of course, it will take some, and it is mainly to interest Georgia farmers and others with money to invest that he addresses himself to the governor. Here is what he says about that:

"The proprietor of lands who wants to invest his capital in these cultures, he shall spend not a big money; this expense will be done during the first year only. It is to buy the seeds (?) and all the exemplaries of trees. Myself will take care of the bringing up, the growing and all the necessary future operations."

As he ponders over the great future he has planned for Georgia, he grows eloquent. "The humanity unconsciously will be transferred in the America. You see the wonderful progress manifested in the northern Atlantic states. Well, bigger and more durable will be for the Georgia's state because all the manufacturing industries will couple the agriculture. The California is one of the very eloquent example and for that do not say a word about it. The old Europe is ahead of the Georgia's state. And in another place, I am very enthusiastic for the Georgia's state because the climate and the splendid reserved future. The address which he gives and at communications from interested capitalists is: Carlo Albanese di Filippo, Piazza Garibaldi, Cittanova, Reggio Calabria, Italia.

Moonshine Still, Near Terminal Station, Raided by Revenue Officers on Wednesday

It was in the basement of this two-story brick building at 24 Elliott street that federal internal revenue agents Wednesday found a full-fledged "moonshine" distillery in operation. Three negroes, alleged to have been operating the plant, were taken into custody and locked in jail. The officers destroyed 100 gallons of whisky in the making and confiscated two copper stills and other paraphernalia commonly used in the manufacture of "blockade corn." The insert cut is that of a 50-gallon copper still, similar to those taken in this downtown "moonshine" still raid.

SOCIAL EVIL PROBE PLANNED FOR CITY

Members of Council Contemplating Introduction of Ordinance for Re-establishment of Segregated District.

The appointment of a committee of five council members with a view to making a thorough investigation of the social evil in Atlanta, is now being considered by several councilmen, who are of the opinion that it would be better to re-establish the segregated district.

Considerable talk has been indulged in for some time past among certain members relative to the condition now prevailing in the city in this regard. They claim that the city is rapidly becoming infested with women of loose morals whose places of abode are among the better classes of the people. The personnel of this committee, if it is appointed, will probably be kept a secret and the times of their visits will also be kept quiet.

It is proposed that the committee make a report of conditions and if it is thought necessary an ordinance be passed setting aside certain sections of the city for houses of ill fame.

"I have information that leads me to believe that places of this kind are scattered all over town," said one member of council in speaking of the matter. "If this condition of affairs is true then surely there should be some way of stopping their introduction into the city. I am in favor of an ordinance such as proposed for the protection of decent women and girls."

Robber Gang Loots N. Y.-Chicago Train And Makes Getaway

Detroit, September 27.—Michigan Central passenger train No. 14, known as the New York-Chicago Express, bound from Chicago to Detroit, was held up by a gang of robbers near Dearborn, eighteen miles west of here, late tonight.

After stopping the train by disarranging the block system the men unhooked the mail and baggage cars from the rest of the train and drove them down the track a distance of two miles. Then they ransacked both cars, including the registered matter in the mail car, and escaped after extinguishing the fire in the locomotive.

The amount of booty obtained will not be known until the postal authorities have checked up on the registered mail.

Several automobiles, loaded with policemen and deputy sheriffs, left Detroit for the scene immediately upon receipt of word of the hold-up.

Three Negroes Are Jailed and Contents of Still Poured Out, After Sensational Raid by Revenue Officers.

In the very heart of Atlanta, at 24 Elliott street, diagonally across Mitchell street from the rear of the Terminal station, United States revenue officers yesterday afternoon raided a moonshine whisky still, and lodged in jail three negroes charged with operating it.

Consisting in two 50-gallon copper stills, worms, several barrels and other distillery paraphernalia, the plant was in full operation and the brew was boiling merrily when the officers, through a carefully concealed trap door, entered the basement of the building in which it was housed, and confiscated the entire outfit.

The plant was located in the basement of a two-story brick building. The upper story is rented by Irene Housworth, and the ground floor to Jim Hill, a negro.

From all appearances the officers surmised that the plant has been in operation for several months. Every precaution had been taken to keep its existence a secret, even to the extent of maintaining in the still a quantity of powerful deodorant, which the officers found, to neutralize the fumes arising from the product and the operations of the stills.

Revenue Officers Make Raid.

The raid was made by Internal Revenue Agents G. C. Hamrick, W. M. Brown and R. E. Tuttle, and Deputy United States Marshal C. H. Lively. Early Wednesday a negro went to the office of Revenue Agent E. C. Yellowley and told such a tale of the still's existence that the officers at first declined to believe him, but he persisted in his story and a raiding party was sent to investigate.

Everything was found, even to the minutest detail. Just as the officers were about to enter the building they were met by the two negroes, Lovelace and Henry Long, who had been in the custody of the Georgia state police. The officers, when taken before United States Commissioner W. Colquitt for examination, admitted any one, Long, broke down and wept copiously because of "the disgrace" which had been heaped upon him. The three, waiting examination were sent to the Tower in default of $500 bond each, to appear before Commissioner Carter for preliminary hearing next Saturday.

In addition to the three negroes arrested, a warrant has been issued for the arrest of a fourth, who, it is believed, is equally culpable with those in custody.

The ground floor of the building, in the basement of which the still was located, is a blacksmith shop, the rental for which is paid by Jim Hill, and the shop, is conducted by Robinson. The plan was to use the trap door in the blacksmith shop. In a rear side of the building, which is a depth of about 4 feet below the surface of the lot—is a door opening into the city sewer. And through this door the still was lowered and was boarded up solid before the officers broke it open to remove the stills.

Every Precaution Taken.

Each still was over a furnace, the smoke pipes from which lead into the rear of the building. The stills were connected with the drain from a lava-rum in the blacksmith shop, and thus the fumes arising from the still while the furnaces were in operation would naturally occasion no surprise from the outside. Then the waste and drainage from the stills was run through a pipe which had been connected with the drain from a lava-rum in the blacksmith shop, and thus the fumes arising from the still while the furnaces were in operation would naturally occasion no surprise from the outside. BERLIN ACCLAIMS ARRIVAL OF BREMEN

At New London, Conn. Enthusiastic Articles in Papers—Funny Thing Is That Bremen Has Not Arrived.

Berlin, September 27.—(Via London.) The Berlin newspapers today are acclaiming enthusiastically the arrival of the German submarine Bremen at New London, Conn. The Connecticut town has jumped to a point of prime interest and the newspapers have found it necessary to describe its situation by the aid of maps. They are also dilating on the history of the town.

The news of the Bremen relieves the protracted tension which had grown intense as the expected arrival of the submarine was delayed from week to week. Apparently authentic rumors had been in circulation that the Bremen sailed early in August. Hence fears were entertained in some quarters that something had gone wrong with her and the report of her arrival has been greeted by the newspapers as paying the way for the establishment of a regular submarine service between Germany and the United States, and as answering the alleged taunt of Germany's enemies when the submarine Deutschland returned home from her voyage overseas, "you can't do it again."

All the newspapers today print a sketch of Captain Schwartzkopf, captain of the Bremen, who was for a long time in the service of the North German steamship company. He served for years on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and distinguished himself in rescue work in the Hoboken fire in 1900. Captain Schwartzkopf was the chief officer of the Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm when the war broke out. The steamer was then at Spitzbergen on a Polar excursion but succeeded in making a home port without encountering the British fleet.

There have been many reports of the expected arrival of the merchant submarine Bremen at various ports on the Atlantic coast recently but up to the present she has not docked in any of them. The announcement of her arrival printed in Berlin probably resulted from one of these premature reports reaching the German capital.

New London, Baltimore and Norfolk have been reported as the destination of the Bremen. Recently there has been much activity in New London by officials of the Eastern Forwarding company, American agents for the German merchant submarines. A report from Westerly, R. I., September 25, said a tug had left there to meet a German submarine which was on the way to New London.

The Berlin dispatch apparently is confirmatory of the reports that the Bremen had sailed for the United States and that she is now due here.

SHELLS AND TORPEDOES PAY GREAT DIVIDEND

New York, September 27.—The E. W. Bliss company, manufacturers of shells and torpedoes, has declared an extra dividend of 100 per cent in cash on the common stock. This was the second 100 per cent dividend this year.

The company last year earned $5,522,000, the equivalent of more than 435 per cent on the $1,250,000 common stock. Since January 1, 1915, per cent has been declared, including extras of 11 1/2 per cent each in March and June.

ALLIES CONTINUE TO ADVANCE LINE ON SOMME FRONT

British Take German Trenches on Front of 2,000 Yards North of Flers and Storm Strong Redoubt Northeast of Thiepval.

THOUSANDS OF GERMANS CAPTURED BY BRITISH

Ten Thousand of Kaiser's Troops Taken in Last Two Weeks—5,000 of Number in Last Two Days—Great Irregular Triangular Wedge Being Mauled Into German Line.

New York, September 27.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—The twenty-mile battle-line running from the Ancre river to the Somme is rapidly being transformed by the great offensive of the entente allies into an irregular triangular wedge in the German line, with the bases respectively in front of Thiepval and west of Peronne, and the point projecting across the Bethune road and into the St. Pierre Vaast wood.

MORE GAINS FOR ALLIES

On the British end of the line in the region of Thiepval, and eastward to the north of Flers, the British in Wednesday's fighting gained further successes over the Germans and likewise the French east and southeast of Rancourt drove their troops forward and entered the St. Pierre Vaast wood.

To the south of this region from Bouchavesnes to the southern edge of the Bois L'Abbe farm, the French were compelled to face a violent attack by the Germans, which was beaten off, the Germans being thrown back in disorder, according to Paris.

The British gains included German trenches on a front of 2,000 yards north of Flers and a strong redoubt on a hill 2,000 yards northeast of Thiepval. To the northwest, across the Ancre, successful raids were carried out by the British opposite Beaumont-Hamel. Ten thousand prisoners have been taken into the hands of the British in the last fortnight's fighting on the Somme front, according to London.

LITTLE NEWS FROM EAST.

There is still little news coming from the Russian and Austro-German war office concerning the fighting on the eastern front. The Austro-Germans have been successful in various skirmishes at various points there is nothing to report. Berlin, however, records the repulse of a Russian attack in Galicia, near Lodov, with heavy casualties to the Russians.

Artillery duels continue along most of the Austro-Italian front.

In the fighting in Asiatic Turkey Petrograd claims successes for the Russians along the Black sea coast, in Armenia near Giumrichan, and on the Persian front in the vicinity of Hamadan.

BEST TWO DAYS FOR THE BRITISH.

British Front in France, September 27 (Via London).—The total number of prisoners for what are regarded in quarters as the best two days the British army has had in France, approaches 5,000.

Through the night there was heavy fighting, while the British were pressing forward their gains. The sun rose with a promise of another splendid autumn day only to become overcast later. This interfered with all important artillery observations. More than 1,000 prisoners were taken in Thiepval and the Zollern work. In a military sense, this work, lying between Thiepval and Courcellette, was regarded as more important than the crushed ruins of the village. Here, at the hinge of the battle front, with the old first-line fortifications, all the power guns could command, has fought against every art of modern defense. German dugouts, which were so numerous and high explosive shell could not penetrate them, had their doors closed in by debris from explosions. Indeed, with a fire of all sorts the British literally locked the Germans in their refuges under cover of its certain fire directed at the remaining open doorways of the dugouts which were all connected with underground galleries and marched out the occupants as prisoners.

The taking of Zollern and Zollern work means that the German gun positions around Grand Court and in the valley of the Ancre have been reversed and the Germans are reported to have begun withdrawal of their batteries in that neighborhood.

DEAD AND WOUNDED THICK IN COMBLES.

THRONE TOTTERING, KING CONSTANTINE DECIDES TO YIELD TO WILL OF PEOPLE

Constantine Attends Council of the Greek Ministers and Agreement Is Reached to Co-operate With Allied Powers.

VENIZELOS IN CRETE TO HEAD REVOLUTION

Former Premier Says He Is Not Moving to Overthrow King or Dynasty, But to Save Greece—Revolt Against King's Pro-German Policy Spreads.

London, September 28.—The council of Greek ministers has decided in agreement with King Constantine upon military co-operation with the entente powers, says a Reuter dispatch from Athens dated Wednesday.

The Greek battleship Hydra has joined the allied fleet, according to a Reuter dispatch from Athens.

There is an unconfirmed report, the dispatch adds, that the Greek battleships Spetsai and Psara and four Greek destroyers have also joined the combined Anglo-French naval forces under Vice Admiral du Poutren in the Mediterranean.

King Constantine received an exhaustive report from General Moschopoulos, chief of the general staff, detailing the chaos in the military organization of the country caused by the departure of so many officers to join the Anglo-French allies and advising the immediate declaration of the war by Greece without waiting for the assistance or the insistence of the entente powers, as the only way to save the situation.

GREECE FACING GREAT CRISIS.

Athens, September 27.—(Via London.) Despite the profound popular belief that the country is facing the greatest crisis in its history, calm expectancy reigns in Athens. The Venizelist morning papers publish declarations which the former premier left prior to his departure, in which he says the government he leads is not revolutionary, but purely of national character, and that he has no design upon the integrity of the actual government of the country. M. Venizelos declares that his course is the only way by which national unity may be preserved and that he will struggle for the salvation of Greece without the aid of the constituted government. If the government will not act. But if the king decides to defend Hellenic soil against the invaders he will be glad to turn over the forces he has gathered to co-operate in a common effort to save the country.

It is learned that communication between the king and M. Venizelos has already been established through the former minister of war, General Yanitsas, and that the outlook is favorable for an early arrangement of the difficulties at present dividing Greece. The movement here to King Constantine has been the departure of Admiral Countdouriotis, who, after the sovereign, is the most distinguished national hero.

ECONOMY

Buy-right Hints for the Housewife

A Thousand Years of Thrift

Germany's wonderful economic and peerless thrift that have been inherent characteristics of the race through countless generations, is now the proven cumulative value of economy; because through its resourceful channels is largely due Teutonic possibilities of continuing the war.

It is the PRACTICE of economy that achieves its greatest benefactions; and the practice once begun becomes engaging and pleasant, because it finally shows results that unqualifiedly prove the wisdom of saving. Careful buying is the bedrock of economy. Getting the best values at the lowest prices is the real system to establish and pursue; and the greatest help in its pursuance is the advertising pages of The Constitution. In these pages Atlanta's most representative merchants in all lines advertise their very lowest prices.

NOTE—The CONSTITUTION guarantees a marked saving on every purchase made in Atlanta in stores that advertise their lowest prices in these pages.

In a column-long message to The Times, giving the reasons for his action in going to Crete as the head of a national defense movement, says he is acting in response to a call of his countrymen, because "I am absolutely convinced those who now really control Greek policy do not honestly intend to arm the country and drive out the invading Bulgarians."

M. Venizelos says he advised from the beginning of the war intervention by Greece on the side of the entente allies, and that subsequent events proved the wisdom of his policy.

"I can wait no longer," says M. Venizelos. "I am not heading a revolution in the ordinary sense of the word. The movement is not directed against the king or his dynasty. It is the last effort we can make to induce the king to come forth and follow the path of duty in the protection of his subjects. As soon as he takes this course we shall follow his flag as loyal citizens and be led by him against our country's foe."

CRETE HAILS VENIZELOS.

Paris, September 27.—A Havas dispatch from Athens says: "Elphiphertis Venizelos arrived at Suda bay on Monday night and entered Crete, the capital, the next day. Several thousand of the inhabitants escorted him in triumph and he addressed them from the balcony of the barracks. There was no disorder in the city, the royalist officials and officers keeping in the background. Candia is also quiet.

M. Venizelos has announced that he will send out from Crete in a few days a proclamation to the Greek people explaining his attitude and the necessity of fighting against the Bulgarians. The committee of national defense will have its headquarters at Saloniki, probably under the presidency of Admiral Coundouriotis. M. Venizelos will direct the policy and organize and extend the movement.

GREEK TROOPS REVOLT IN CANEA.

Paris, September 27.—Four thousand Greek troops in Canea have joined the revolutionists, according to a radio agency dispatch from Athens. Only a colonel, a few other officers and twenty-five of the men remained loyal to the government.

KING TO ADDRESS GREEK NATION. London, September 27.—"The Greek ministerial council held in Athens yesterday evening," says a wireless dispatch from the Greek capital, "will be followed by the resignation of the Katochopoulos cabinet, and by the issue of a proclamation from King Constantine to the Greek nation."

London, September 27.—"The return from Tatol to Athens the king was summoned to the general council of the government. General Dousmanis, ex-chief of the Greek general staff, and the king's sister, the wife of the German emperor, was present at the conference."

ALLIES CONTINUE TO ADVANCE LINE

spondent adds, "It was a carnal house. What remained of the garrison of two battalions fought furiously, and every corner of the town was the theater of murderous combats. No ground was yielded. It was every inch of it conquered."

The pulse of a church changed hands three times during the twenty minutes it took the French and British, after they had formed a junction and closed a ring around the town, to reduce the last stronghold, the fall of which was saluted with enthusiastic cheering by the troops. It was then impossible to take two steps without encountering dead.

"In cellars and dugouts dead and wounded lay mingled by the hundreds, and it is now certain that the allies did not take a greater number of prisoners because the garrison was virtually annihilated in the assault and the previous shelling. Many of the deaths seemed to date back a few days."

"The jubilation of the soldiers over this victory communicated itself to the villages behind the lines, where, for the first time since the war began, satisfaction over successes took the form of celebrations. The civilians feasted the troops, organized impromptu concerts, sang the national hymns of the allies and acclaimed the victors of Combes and Thiepval."

REAR-GUARD FIGHT FOR THE GERMANS

London, September 27.—A dispatch from Reuters' correspondent at the British headquarters in northern France says:

"The recent fighting illustrates how completely the enemy is now being pushed back. We are advancing with deliberate calculation, which is only possible to the side of intense strength. The German army in the west is now fighting a slow rear-guard action."

"The enemy's position has been considerably lessened by the fact that we had reason to anticipate from past experiences. I hear that a patrol, even the word cavalry is mentioned, has been forwarded into positions where, down to a very few days ago, no horseman could possibly have ventured."

ONLY TACTICAL GAIN, GERMANS ASSERT

Amsterdam, September 27.—(Via London.)—Commenting on the Anglo-French movement on the Somme front, The Frankfurter Zeitung says: "The enemy has achieved a tactical gain. It was a tactical gain, appalling sanguinary for the assailants, and it resulted in a most trying situation for the defenders. Streams of blood flowed and vast quantities of shells fell upon the German positions north of the Somme."

"Again the British and French hurled a veritable army against our line. A tactical gain was the result. In strategy, the entente won nothing. Field Marshal von Hindenburg has not answered a hair's breadth from the calm course he had laid. The western front experienced the most severe hour it has yet known, and in it we lost stubbornly defended villages and valuable positions, but, as a whole, the front remained firm and it was impossible to break through."

BRITISH STORM GERMAN WORKS ON BROAD FRONT

London, September 28.—German trenches on a front of 2,000 yards to the north of Ploeghem, near the mouth of the Scheldt, were captured by the British during the fighting on Wednesday north of the Somme, according to the official communication, issued shortly after midnight.

The excellent progress was made today (Wednesday) on the battle front. North of Ploeghem our troops carried further enemy trenches on a front of 2,000 yards and are now level with the east side of Fauscourt.

"There has been fierce fighting northeast of Thiepval, in the course of which our troops stormed and now hold an enemy work known as the Staff redoubt, on the main ridge, 2,000 yards northeast of the last fortnight to 10,000."

"More than 1,800 rifles, four flamethrowers and many thousands rounds of artillery ammunition and grenades were taken in Combes, where our allies also made large captures of material."

"The prisoners taken in the last two days fighting bring the total for the operations on the last fortnight to 10,000."

"Two enemy aeroplanes and two kite balloons were destroyed yesterday. Two of our machines are missing."

"An earlier communication said: 'Our troops made progress during the night, particularly in the direction of Ploeghem and the Staff redoubt.'"

"Successful raids were carried out by us opposite Beaumont and Hameel and in the neighborhood of Loos. Three hostile aeroplanes were destroyed in air fighting on Monday and six others were driven down damaged."

FRENCH CONTINUE TO MAKE PROGRESS.

Paris, September 27.—A strong German counter attack on the new French positions from Bouchevillers to the Bois de l'Abbe farm was repulsed with heavy losses, according to the official statement issued by the French command.

The French extended their positions east and southeast of Fauscourt and penetrated St. Pierre Vaast wood. The text reads:

"North of the Somme, after violent artillery preparation, the enemy launched a strong attack against our new positions from Bouchevillers to south of the Bois de l'Abbe farm. In a met the enemy waves of assault, which were thrown back in disorder. After inflicting heavy losses on the Germans, we captured 250 prisoners, including six officers. We also took eight machine guns."

"We appreciably extended our progress to the east and southeast of Rancourt and penetrated the St. Pierre Vaast wood."

"On the remainder of the front there was nothing of importance."

The French communication issued during the day follows:

"North of the Somme our troops organized the positions recently won. The enemy attempted no counter attack during the night."

South of the Somme there was rather spirited artillery fighting in the region of Barleux. A brilliant attack carried out by our troops resulted in the capture, east of Vermandovillers, of a fortified wood held by the enemy which formed a small salient in our line."

"Everywhere else the night was calm."

GERMANS ADMIT LOSS OF THIEPVAL.

Berlin, September 27.—(By Sayville.) After unusually severe fighting on the Somme front in which the entente allies suffered heavy losses they captured Thiepval and gained ground on both sides of Courcellette, the war office announced today, capturing further to the east were repulsed by the Germans.

Following is the official account of operations on the Franco-Belgian front:

"A group of Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria: The battle north of the Somme continued with exceedingly severe artillery fighting and numerous infantry engagements. The salient corner of Thiepval was lost. On both sides of Courcellette the enemy, after repeated failures, which cost him large losses, finally gained ground."

"Further east the enemy was repulsed. The success of September 25, following the occupation of the village of Gueudecourt. Violent hostile attacks from Les Boeufs and along the front from Morval to a point south of Bouchevillers were repulsed with heavy losses for the enemy, partly in hand-to-hand fighting."

"South of the Somme French hand grenade attacks near Vermandovillers and Chaulnes failed."

RUSSIAN ATTACKS FAIL IN GALICIA, GERMANS REPORT

Berlin, September 27.—(By Sayville.) The Russians returned to the attack in Galicia along the Ludova sector yesterday. Their efforts again resulted in failure, costing them heavy losses, says today's official announcement.

The statement says: "Army group of Prince Leopold of Bavaria: North of the Carpathians there were no incidents. The Ludova sector again ended in failure for the Russians, who suffered severe losses."

Petrograd, September 27.—(Via London.)—An official statement issued by the Russian war department says: "Western front: Skirmishes between patrol parties are taking place at various points of the front. The most serious encounter was on the bank of the Trut swamp south of Riga. On the rest of the front there is nothing of importance to report."

"Caucasus front: South of the region of the little town of Elleu on the Black sea coast, our patrols have attacked the Turks from the rear and took a number of prisoners."

"Southwest of Samakhan our detachments, having broken through the enemy guard posts, killed a large number of Turks."

"Persia: In the direction of Hamadan we compelled the Turks to retire toward the west, capturing here prisoners, arms and a camel transport and destroying the enemy's telegraphic line over a considerable distance."

issued by the war office today. In the Astico valley and along the Carso, it is added, Austrian artillery fire was heavy.

The statement reads: "In the Astico valley on Monday night the enemy's artillery opened an intense fire against our lines, but was stopped by the effective reply of our batteries. Northeast of the Lashi basin in the Zars torrent in the Poena valley, one of our elements, by a daring exploit, occupied a high position between Menari and Tovo. On the rest of the front there were only artillery actions. The enemy shelled Hills 208 and 144 and the principal points on the Carso line recently captured by us."

Last night one of our airships, in spite of the adverse weather, succeeded in flying over the Carso plateau and bombarded a column of troops and wagons proceeding along the Cominiano (Comen) Castagnievizza road. The dirigible, although discovered by searchlights and bombarded by the enemy, returned safely within our lines."

Vienna, September 27.—(Via London.) The Austrian war office today issued the following communication: "Italian theater: There has been no fighting of importance. On the Carso plateau parts of our positions were subjected at intervals to strong artillery and mine-throwing fire."

"Southeastern front: The situation is unchanged."

Just what form of entertainment will be provided for the visitors has not, of course, been decided upon yet, and President C. G. Haden, of the state chamber of commerce, has asked the public for suggestions.

STOLEN MACHINE FOUND

FOOT OF EMBANKMENT

Having run over an embankment of about thirty feet, a big Maxwell machine, belonging to Dr. H. W. C. Hayes, was discovered overturned and badly demolished Wednesday morning on the railroad tracks below McCully bridge on Lee street, near Oakland City.

When the car was discovered the owner was not known, and the police had difficulty in ascertaining to whom it belonged, until Dr. Hayes called up and said that his car, corresponding in description to that found on the tracks, had been stolen.

Nothing has been learned as to what became of the occupants of the car.

RUMANIANS WON DOBRUDJA BATTLE

Bucharest Gives Details of Defeat of German-Turk-Bulgar Forces—Bulgars Claim Success in Macedonia.

New York, September 27.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—On the Rumanian front battles are taking place at various points near the Transylvanian border. Berlin reports progress for the Teutonic allies near Hermannstadt, while Bucharest chronicles the defeat of the Austro-Germans in the Jiu valley and their hasty retreat north and northwest. Quiet prevails in the Dobrudja region.

Bucharest also reiterates that the Rumanians and Russians won a notable victory over Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces in the great battle last week in Dobrudja. It is claimed that Bulgars and Germans were driven in disorder and thousands of prisoners captured.

According to the Bulgarian war office, the Bulgarians have forced back the troops of the entire allies over the whole front in Macedonia. Paris, however, says three violent Bulgarian attacks on Kalkmakalan height were repulsed with heavy losses.

RUMANIANS WON IN GREAT BATTLE ON DOBRUDJA LINE
Bucharest, September 27.—(Via London, September 27.)—Details of the great battle on the Dobrudja front, which lasted from September 17 to September 19, and ended, according to General Averesco, in the decisive defeat of the Germans and Bulgarians, are given in an official statement, issued by the war office today. The statement says:

"The supreme command learned on September 17 that detachments of the German and Bulgarian forces were falling slowly back, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy. Measures were taken to meet the situation and a desperate battle began on a front stretching from the Danube to the Black sea. The fighting was along the Danube, where enemy columns consisting mostly of Germans endeavored to force their way into Chernavoda. This effort was defeated by the splendid resistance of the Rumanians, who, with repeated bayonet attacks, supported by the fire of three monitors in the river, brought the advance of the enemy to a standstill.

"In two days' fighting of the most desperate character the enemy suffered heavy losses, his massed formations being broken down by artillery fire. In the center he was driven from trenches which he momentarily succeeded in penetrating by the allied Rumanian, Russian and Serbian troops. "Finally at 9 o'clock in the evening of September 19 the enemy onslaught reached its climax. The allies, by a formidable counter attack, overthrew the enemy right wing, which fled in disorder. The enemy losses were very great, everywhere heaps of corpses were found, and in front of one division alone 5,000 rifles were picked up. The allied troops then advanced, driving the enemy before them."

Report of Victory Confirmed.
London, September 27.—A Bucharest dispatch dated September 25 to Reuters says:

"Later details confirm the report of a great victory for the Rumanians and Russians. Thousands of prisoners were captured, while the Russian mortars did tremendous damage. The Russo-Rumanian forces continue their advance to the south."

"At 3 o'clock this morning a German dirigible dropped three bombs on Bucharest, but did no damage, being driven off by gunfire. At 6 o'clock in the afternoon six German aeroplanes appeared and dropped bombs, killing about 40 civilians, including women and children. A number of boys scout engaged courageously in maintaining order among the entire populace. About fifty civilians were wounded. Eventually the raiders were driven off by violent gunfire. The greatest indignation prevails and the people demand reprisals."

RUMANIANS GAIN IN TRANSYLVANIA

Bucharest, September 27.—(Via London, September 27.)—The official communication from Rumanian headquarters issued today reads:

"On the northern and northwestern front actions occurred on the Callman and Gurghin mountains. South of Sibia (Hermannstadt) violent fighting is still in progress. In the Jiu valley our troops attacked and repulsed the enemy who is hastily retreating toward the north and northwest. We captured a hundred prisoners, including two officers; we took two machine guns.

"On the southern front there was cannonading along the Danube. Quiet prevails in Dobrudja. "Hostile aeroplanes yesterday dropped bombs on Bucharest and neighboring villages, causing some loss of life, especially among the women and children. Last night a Zeppelin dropped incendiary bombs on Bucharest, causing two small fires. One woman was killed and one man injured. The Zeppelin was driven off by our artillery. In the region of Topolita our guns brought down an enemy aeroplane."

QUIET REPORTED BY BULGARIANS.

Sofia, September 27.—(Via London.) The Bulgarian statement of today says of operations in eastern Rumania:

"The Rumanian front: All is quiet on the Danube. The situation in Dobrudja is unchanged. Our troops have consolidated their position. On the Black sea coast quiet prevails."

TEUTONS ATTACK IN TRANSYLVANIA.

Berlin, September 27.—(By Sayville.) The German war office today issued the following in regard to operations against the Rumanians:

"Rumanian Front: Our attack near Hermannstadt is progressing. Another attack on the Rumanian front by a German airship and aeroplanes. "Vienna, September 27.—(Via London.)—The following official communication was issued today:

"Eastern Theater, Rumanian Front: "Within range of Teutonic troops came in touch with Rumanians yesterday near Mount Turlisinn. Near Nagy Seeben (Hermannstadt) the fighting is progressing in our favor. "On the Transylvanian eastern front our reconnoitering detachments are engaged in battle at many points. In the Bistrica district Rumanian advances were repulsed, and Russian troops which had advanced to the north of Kiribaba and in the region of Ludovica also were repulsed. Further to the north nothing of importance has happened."

SERBIANS DRIVEN ON MACEDONIAN LINE

BULGARS REPORT

Sofia, September 27.—(Via London.) After ten days of heavy fighting between Serbian and Bulgarian troops on the western end of the Macedonian front, the Bulgarians forced back their opponents, compelling them to retreat along the whole front, it was announced officially today.

"Three successive trench attacks near Florina were repulsed. The French are said to have suffered great losses. The announcement of the Bulgarian victory was made in the following terms:

"On the Stara Nerevska Ridge one of our columns made a surprise attack in the direction of the village of Brenica on a French battalion of regiment 242. Bulgarian troops dispersed the French battalion and returned with several dozen prisoners, one machine gun and a large quantity of munitions. "At the point of the bayonet we captured enemy trenches in the village of Oromovic, where we found thirty of the enemy dead. Near the village of Pisoderi and Arnesko we made counter attacks on three enemy battalions which retreated in disorder, leaving behind many dead or wounded.

"East of Florina we repulsed three successive French attacks. The enemy suffered great losses and was forced to retreat along the whole front. The fighting is proceeding with great success on the Macedonian front."

"In the Moeleska valley the artillery fighting continues. We silenced the enemy's heavy guns. The Serbian front there was quiet. The Bulgarians moved forward on the Aegean coast were observed."

"Berlin, September 27.—(By Sayville.) "On the Macedonian front the Bulgarians have obtained further advantages on September 25," says an official announcement issued today. "East of Florina hostile attacks were repulsed."

"Bulgarian troops attacked the enemy in reply for his attack on Kalkmakalan height. They defeated and captured two cannons and several machine guns and mine throwers."

BULGARS REPULSED, SERBIANS ASSERT.

Paris, September 27.—The Serbians have repulsed three violent Bulgarian attacks on Kalkmakalan height, according to an official statement, issued by the war office, dealing with the Macedonian front.

"The statement referring to the Macedonian front follows: "From the River Struma to the River Vardar there has been only slight artillery activity. East of the River Struma the Bulgarians have attacked in important numbers the positions held by the Serbians. On the Kalkmakalan heights three violent counter attacks have been successfully broken by the cross fire of our cannons and our machine guns. We inflicted very heavy losses on the Bulgarians. Fifty prisoners, including one officer, were captured by the Serbians. "On our left wing our artillery has actively bombarded the positions of the enemy."

London, September 27.—An official statement issued today by the British war department regarding the military operations in Macedonia says:

"Beyond the usual artillery and patrol activity there were no developments on the Struma-Dorfen front."

J. WOODS HAMMOND WINS HOT RACE

Griffin, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) One of the most interesting and exciting political races ever held in Griffin came to a close here today, with the election of J. Woods Hammond as mayor over J. S. Tyus.

The race was a hard-fought one in every ward in town. Both candidates are prominent in the business life of the town and are members of two of the best known mercantile firms.

Mr. Hammond, the mayor-elect, is a member of the light and sewer commission and was formerly superintendent. Mr. Tyus has been an alderman for several terms and is also a member of a prominent firm. Mayor-elect Hammond won the contest by only 57 votes.

In the race for clerk and treasurer, E. F. Bridges, present incumbent, won over L. O. Daniel and J. L. Reid, his opponents, by a big vote.

In the race for alderman from the third ward, J. L. Cox won over J. E. Miller. In the first ward W. L. Langford defeated G. J. Coppedge by two votes. This race was very close and hotly contested.

In the second ward D. R. Blakeley was nominated without opposition, as was A. P. Patterson in the fourth ward.

CRUM TO BE IN RACE TO SUCCEED GEORGE

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) It is confidently expected here that Judge Walter F. George, successful nominee for the court of appeals, will shortly resign from his present judgeship. GILBERT REPORTED TO HAVE OPPONENTS

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) The indications are that Judge Price Gilbert will not be unopposed in the race for justice of the supreme court to succeed himself in the office to which he was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Lumpkin, for at least two of the defeated candidates for the court of appeals are reported to be considering making the race. They are O. H. R. Bloodworth, of Forsyth, and Alex H. Stephens, of Atlanta, who ran first and second in the recent primary out of a field of fourteen contestants for seats on the court of appeals, neither securing enough county unit votes to insure nomination in the convention.

Mr. Stephens stated here last night that he now has the matter of running for the supreme court under advisement and Mr. Bloodworth, according to report from Forsyth, is expected to announce within a few days.

In the race for clerk and treasurer, E. F. Bridges, present incumbent, won over L. O. Daniel and J. L. Reid, his opponents, by a big vote.

In the race for alderman from the third ward, J. L. Cox won over J. E. Miller. In the first ward W. L. Langford defeated G. J. Coppedge by two votes. This race was very close and hotly contested.

Heres and Theres

New Hats at $10.00, kinds that women will exclaim over for wear with autumn dresses and suits, are ready today.

It has been many and many a day since Atlanta women, or women of any city for that matter, have had the opportunity to select from such a great display of French, hand-made and hand-embroidered lingerie as we are showing right now.

Ivory enamel furniture—Grand Rapids says it's the "big" thing of the season—and so this display in our Hall of Fame.

There's a threatened scarcity of fur trimmings—we have not felt it as yet.

Nothing succeeds like successful styles—we do believe more women are choosing dresses here this fall than in any of our history.

A Good Rule to Follow When Choosing New Blouses for Fall

Go to the store that has acquired the habit of showing the smart, the distinctive styles season after season!

In other words, go to the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. Blouse Section.

Here they are!

One after another in seemingly endless variety—blouses that only Paris could design, others absolutely American—and the question is which is the more charming?

The daintiest of Georgette crepe affairs in white and flesh color, others for the tailored suit in the shades favored for fall, at $5.00 and $5.75.

Then the hosts of embroidered and beaded Georgettes, with their touches of rich colors, with their distinctive collars, at $7.50 to $22.50; and the story could be lengthened so easily—the beautiful, the satisfying display is so impressive, and it all means that as the women of Atlanta turn to us for their blouses this fall they are finding the loveliest.

WOODROW WILSON CLUB GIVES LUNCHEON TODAY

Senator Smith, Governor Harris and Governor - Elect Dorsey Will Be Present.

For the purpose of working up more interest in the Wilson campaign, and in the campaign fund in particular, the Fulton County Wilson club will hold a luncheon at the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce auditorium today at 1 o'clock. Hundreds of invitations have been sent out, and it is expected that the luncheon and meeting will be very enthusiastic and largely attended.

Among those who have accepted invitations to the luncheon today are United States Senator Hoke Smith, Governor N. E. Harris, Governor-elect Hugh M. Dorsey and Congressman William Schley Howard.

Sell Wilson Buttons.
Although women cannot vote in Georgia—yet they are nevertheless doing a splendid work toward the re-election of President Woodrow Wilson. The work of the ladies consists in selling "I Have Paid My Dollar" buttons to swell the Wilson campaign fund.

Thousands of these buttons, bearing the picture of President Wilson, have been ordered by the Fulton County Wilson club, and many young ladies of the city are selling them. It costs just $1, which is hardly more than a good Georgia democrat's share in raising the campaign fund. If the ladies miss you, you can get your button by calling at or mailing $1 to 316 Empire building, for which your button will be sent by return mail. Your button will be sent by return mail.

Every Georgia democrat should have a button before the week is over.

Walker Issues Appeal.
State Senator John D. Walker, of Sparta, Ga., chairman of the Georgia democratic finance committee, has issued an appeal to the people of Georgia urging them to support the democratic national campaign fund.

Sensor Walker points out that there are innumerable small items of expense with the campaign which few people think of, such as maintaining national and divisional headquarters, printing and mailing a great mass of literature, perfecting organizations in practically every town in every county of the union, maintaining speakers' bureaus and a thousand and one other similar items of expense.

Sensor Walker reviewed the progressive measures and other achievements accomplished by the four years of democratic administration, and declared that, in addition to these reasons why President Wilson should be re-elected, he is a southern president and it behooves southern people to support and help him in every way possible to succeed himself.

Cone Johnson, solicitor of the state department at Washington, who was in Atlanta Wednesday attending the opening exercises of Emory university, expressed the opinion that President Wilson will be re-elected, but he declared that on account of the extraordinary fight which the republicans are putting up for his defeat, he was high in his praise for the achievements of President Wilson during his present administration.

BISHOP BRUCE SPEAKS HERE TWICE THIS WEEK

Bishop R. B. Bruce, of the Eighth Episcopal district of the A. M. E. Zion church, which includes South Carolina and Georgia, will speak at the Alstock Temple, on the corner of Smith and Glenn streets, this evening at 8 o'clock, and on Friday evening the bishop will preach at the Boulevard A. M. E. Zion church. This is the first visit of the bishop to his work in Georgia since his election last May in Louisville, Ky. He is one of the ablest and most eloquent of the Sunday school literature of his denomination, with headquarters in Charlotte, N. C. The members of the churches here are making elaborate preparation for his coming at this time.

ATLANTA LAW SCHOOL ENROLLMENT DOUBLED

With more than double the enrollment of last year, the Atlanta Law school opens its 1917 session today. A number of young women will enter the junior class. Several new members have been added to the faculty and the outlook for the school is reported to be the most auspicious in its history.

SwingingWaltz Song Written Behind Bars Will Be Repeated

"Adlyn," Written by Convict - Composer, on Program for Sunday Concert at Federal Prison - Orchestra and Band Will Take Part.

John Hall's already famous waltz-song, "Adlyn," will be presented to a second Atlanta audience next Sunday at an extra concert to be given at federal prison because of the overflow crowd which was unable to hear last Sunday's performance.

No prison incident in years has attracted the attention of the prisoner's waltz composition, a song that promises to be one of the season's topical hits. An audience of 2,000 accorded it an ovation Sunday that amounted to a demonstration, compelling the author to make himself known and bow in acknowledgment of the acclaim.

The concert will be rendered by both the band and orchestra, which will divide the program. The two organizations have thirty members. In addition, the prison quartet, composed of four negroes, Harry Noldan, James Pinkney, Thomas Newman and James Washington, will sing folk and topical selections. And the eminent Thomas Payne will perform on his banjo. This is one of the distinct features of last Sunday's program.

The program will be composed of the grand march from Aida, by Verdi; "One Fleeting Hour," vocal solo, by Leon Buffington, a negro prisoner-vocalist; "Adlyn," John Hall's waltz composition; Thomas Payne and his banjo; overture from William Tell; "Are You From Dixie," quartet; medley overture, "Along the Rialto," and march, "Norembaga."

The orchestra and band of the penitentiary are composed of the following prisoners: F. Meischberger, Vernon Lazon, H. J. Wood, E. Sinclair, Samuel Porfisch, Thomas Bate, Samuel Abraham, T. S. Downey, Antonio Cecilia, John T. Hall, Joseph Hargis, George Scallie, Luigi de Giacomo, Emanuel Greco, Edward Cooper, Louis Smith, L. M. Sturgis, John Kennedy, Amos W. Jones, Thomas H. Beecher, Antonio Sacra, V. Neustadt, Howard Hall, Frank Wallace, Harry Raines, Antonio Casale, Frank Geyer, Joe Gallo.

Both organizations are trained and directed by J. P. Wilhoit, of Atlanta.

WEATHERS REQUESTS JUDGMENT WITHHELD

L. P. Weathers, recently convicted in Cobb county for his alleged connection with land frauds, and who was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary, has written The Constitution requesting that a part of his statement be published for the benefit of his friends. In the statement, Weathers declares his innocence, claiming that he was convicted when feeling was at a high pitch, and disclaiming any connection with the frauds in Cobb county.

Weathers never met J. E. Mozley nor Mr. Moss (two others under indictment for the same offense) "until my trial in Marietta. Further, I have never had a direct transaction with Charles E. Davis" (the alleged leader of the scheme).

Weathers declares that if the court of appeals will allow him the new trial he is petitioning for he will be cleared. He asks that his friends suspend judgment until the outcome of his appeal is known.

NEW CREDIT HOUSE OPENS DOORS HERE

The National, Carrying Men's and Women's Wearing Apparel, Opens New Store.

Atlanta's newest credit store handling all kinds of wearing apparel for men and women—the National—threw its doors open to the public Wednesday at 9 o'clock, at 98 Whitehall street, and throughout the day a throng of visitors were seen in and out of the new and pretty place.

Many came to look, attracted by the announcement made through the columns of the local press, but many more came to take advantage of the offerings of the new company and to select from its stock such wearing apparel as suited their fancy, and to enter their names on the charge account, of which the new company makes a specialty.

The National, so it is claimed by those in charge, is opened by the largest exclusive charge account firm in the United States, operating sixteen stores in principal cities throughout the country. It is claimed to have tremendous buying power, and the new Whitehall street store is full of attractive merchandise. The store was tastefully decorated for the opening, and every caller—man or woman—was presented with a beautiful little souvenir.

S. J. Tomlinson, manager of the new store, is well and favorably known in the merchandise world. He is a southern man who knows the wants of southern buyers, and he expects to make every demand made upon him by them. His assistant, R. R. Suggs, is likewise an experienced merchant and salesman, prominently known through this section. These two gentlemen will be in active control of the National, and will invite their friends and the public generally to call and inspect their new store.

Very much gratified at the splendid reception accorded the opening of the National was E. P. Beaumont, auditor for the parent company, who was in Atlanta and personally gave his aid to making the opening a success. "I leave our opening on Wednesday in Atlanta," said Mr. Beaumont, "was more auspicious than any other opening I have ever held. The first day's business was exceedingly gratifying to me and all interested in the National."

W. F. Winn, With R. R. For Over 24 Years, Died On Wednesday Morning

W. F. Winn, 61 years old, who had been with the Western and Atlantic railroad for over twenty-four years, died Wednesday morning at his home, 31 Strong street.

Mr. Winn had numerous friends in Atlanta, was a prominent member of the Marietta Street Congregational church and a popular member of the Central lodge, No. 28, of Odd Fellows.

He is survived by his wife, four sons, W. H. J. R. J. W. and W. F. Winn, Jr.; two daughters, Lillian and Leslie Winn, and three brothers, J. T. J. K. and J. W. Winn.

The funeral will be held at the residence today at 2 o'clock, and interment will be in the Hollywood cemetery.

Captain Hutchinson was instructed to report to Captain Gollie-mus V. Heidt, who has hitherto had recruiting in Alabama and Georgia, for ten days' instruction. He reached Atlanta and reported for duty Monday. It is understood that Captain Hutchinson does not relieve Captain Heidt, but will simply assume a part of his duties, taking the state of Alabama.

AL G. FIELD OPENS ATLANTA THEATER

Tonight the Atlanta theater season will open with Al G. Field's Greater Minstrels as the offering. The season is opening two weeks late because of the desire of Klaw & Erlanger to have a pleasing attraction of the highest caliber as the starter. Everyone knows the Field minstrels always please.

For the opening the Atlanta has been put in perfect condition. Painters retouched it two weeks ago, since which time cleaners and janitors have been laboring with might and main to have it spick and span for tonight. The house has been scrubbed and swept and dusted and vacuum-cleaned until it is right for the start.

The sale of seats for the Field show indicates a packed house will be present when the curtain goes up at 8:15 o'clock. The demand for seats has been enormous, though as yet the house is not sold out by any means. Mr. Field will have his show here three nights and for Saturday's matinee.

Following the opening the season will continue in earnest. On Monday and Tuesday of next week one of the best musical plays in years will be given in "The Lilac Domino," an operetta of class, with "The Only Girl" the last three days of the week. Others come in rapid succession for more than six months.

J. H. DORSEY IS NAMED FOR HART ARBITRATION

State Tax Commissioner John C. Hart reported yesterday that the hearing in the case of Hart county, the last of the counties to arbitrate its increase in tax returns, was in progress in the courthouse in Harwell. D. C. Alford, of Hartwell, acted as arbitrator for the county; C. T. Tullman, of Quitman, acted for the state. Owing to the inability of these two to agree on a third man, J. H. Dorsey was appointed by Comptroller General William A. Wright to act as umpire. In order to equalize them with other counties, Commissioner Hart ordered the tax returns of Hart county to be increased 20 per cent on assessments of improved lands.

CHARTER IS GRANTED TO INSURANCE COMPANY

A charter was granted yesterday by the secretary of state to the Atlanta Mutual Insurance company, a capital stock of $25,000. The chief office of the company will be Atlanta, and it will do a general line of business among the negro race, writing industrial, fire, health and accident insurance. The incorporators are F. F. Pace, H. W. Gibson, C. A. Faison, S. E. Pace, H. W. Gibson, Frank W. Timberly, all of Fulton county; Solomon Johnson, of Columbus, and J. T. Harrison, of Birmingham.

FAIR WEATHER TODAY, ASSERTS FORECASTER

The weather man predicts clear skies and fair weather for the city today. The prediction holds for the entire state, with the exception of the extreme southern portion, where there are indications of slight showers. Fine weather has been reported for the past several days from the cotton belt and the eastern states. The temperature is high in the extreme west and northwest, with fair weather. Temperatures are somewhat lower in the northwest, a few places reporting below 40 degrees. Temperatures in this vicinity will remain about the same, states the report.

School Superintendent Not Liable for Funds When the Bank Fails

State Superintendent of Schools M. L. Brittain ruled yesterday that a county school superintendent could not be held liable for funds which he had deposited in a bank to the credit of the county board of education in the event the bank failed. J. R. Auld, superintendent of education of Wheeler county, had deposited in an Atlanta bank $258.88, which he had received from the state to the credit of the county board of education. Later the bank was placed in the hands of a receiver.

The county board met on September 3 and, by a vote of 3 to 2, decided to hold Mr. Auld liable for the loss. The matter was referred to Superintendent Brittain, who reversed the holding of the county board, declaring that the law never contemplated that the county superintendent should carry the money on his person for safe-keeping, and that he was in no way responsible for the failure of the bank.

Youth Reported Dead "Somewhere in France" Is Very Much Alive

Perhaps the happiest mother in Atlanta yesterday was Mrs. R. J. Holt, of 137 South Mason avenue, who has just received a letter from her son, Bob, "Somewhere in France."

Of course, she is glad to hear from her son at any time, but there was a very good reason why she was overjoyed upon the receipt of this particular letter. This reason was that she had not expected to hear from her boy again ever, for some two months ago press reports declared that he had been found among the dead of the allies' armies in France.

Bob's letter, which was dated September 1, however, showed that he is very much alive and is still fighting and well.

TORTURED WITH ECZEMA 7 MONTHS

Began on Head and Arms. Spread Over Body and Limbs. Skin Would Burn Like Fire.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I was tortured with eczema for about seven months. It began first on my head and arms, which broke out in large red spots that later seemed to form a scale, and it kept spreading until it was all over my body and limbs. It would itch and burn, and the skin would become irritated and burn like fire. I could not sleep while it lasted."

Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and one cake of Soap and two boxes of Ointment healed me." (Signed) N. W. Hymes, R. 1, Box 6, Montrose, W. Va., April 11, 1916.

PRETTY LOCAL GIRL WILL BE SEEN TODAY AT STRAND THEATER

One of Atlanta's most beautiful young women, Miss Sara Marea Kelley, who has been in New York City the past summer studying to become a moving picture star, will be seen in her first screen production by Atlantians at the Strand theater today.

Miss Kelley's initial appearance is under most auspicious connections. She appears in the famous picture, "The Chatter," which is E. H. Sothern's first release. New York critics have pronounced it a "wonder in the moving picture world."

Miss Kelley's photodrama name is Sara Kellie. She will be seen in the role of the "bridesmaid" in the marriage scene.

News has been received in Atlanta that Miss Kelley will leave New York in a few days for the Pacific coast for a stay of six weeks.

ASSESSORS NOTIFIED OF COMMISSIONS DUE

Captain "Tip" Harrison sent out yesterday statements to the tax collectors of the various counties notifying them of the amount of commissions due the tax assessors of their respective counties for their work in receiving the state tax returns for the current year. The tax collectors will then pay the assessors their commissions out of the taxes when collected.

Nujol For Constipation

Health of body and health of mind. How can you have either if you are handicapped by constipation, by the failure of the body's waste-disposing mechanism?

This mechanism is delicate and easily thrown out of gear. Worry, hurry, improper food and insufficient exercise cause constipation. Pill-taking only makes a bad matter worse, because laxative and cathartic remedies, by weakening the natural processes of evacuation, tend to make constipation chronic.

Nujol is entirely free from these objections. It acts in effect as an internal lubricant preventing the contents of the intestines from becoming hard, and in this way facilitating normal movements.

All druggists carry Nujol which is manufactured only by the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Avoid substitutes. Write today for booklet "The Rational Treatment of Constipation."

GEORGIA TROOPS ORDERED TO BORDER

First Battalion Expected to Entrain in Few Days—Remaining Troops Will Get Orders Very Soon.

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) At 11 o'clock tonight a message from the department of the east at Governor's island ordering the movement of a battalion of field artillery to the border was received at Camp Harris.

General Walter A. Harris, in command of the brigade, at the hour of the delivery of the telegram at headquarters was on a 12-mile brigade hike with his men. The troops are expected to return shortly after midnight.

The destination of the Georgia troops affected by the order is believed to be El Paso.

The battalion of artillery at Camp Harris consists of 444 men and nineteen officers, under the command of Major E. D. Wells. The artillerymen are eager to see service on the border.

Washington, September 27.—Virtually all the guardmen in the mobilization camps of Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Virginia, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Michigan, Colorado, California, Minnesota and the District of Columbia, numbering some 6,000 in all, were ordered to the Mexican border today by the war department and most of them are expected to entrain within the next day or two. At the same time that this order went out, Major General Funston was directed to select 10,000 guardmen now on the border for return to their home stations to be mustered out of the federal service.

The organizations ordered south today include: Field artillery—First battalion of Georgia; batteries A and C of Alabama; the first battalion and Battery C of Virginia; battery A, New Hampshire; battery C of the Jersey; battery C, Third Pennsylvania regiment; battery A, District of Columbia; third New York regiment; batteries E and F, Connecticut; batteries A and B, Michigan; first regiment (second battalion) Minnesota, and batteries B and C, Colorado.

Infantry—Second Florida regiment and third District of Columbia regiment.

Cavalry—Troop A, District of Columbia.

Engineers—Company A, California.

Georgia and Alabama are the only states that will have any considerable number of troops left in the state mobilization camp.

With the departure of these troops for the border, there will remain only about 10,000 state troops in all the country who have not seen service on the border. Within a short time the remainder probably will be ordered out, releasing more of the organizations now under General Funston's command. The gradual returning and mustering out of all the guardmen then is expected.

MEN AT CAMP HARRIS ARE READY TO MOVE.
By Frank Craigie.

Camp Harris, Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—The lid of the camp kettle has been trying to blow off all day long. Ever since the first flash of the press report sending the Georgia troops to the border the pressure has been increasing. Of course, the news caught the skirmishing battalions in the wide fields of simulated combat, and, by the time they had come back to their tents, the keen edge of the story had been dulled by the knocks of the skeptical ones.

Still, far-seeing officers wired smoking messages to absent colleagues: orders were sent to Macon for trunks; Texas railroad schedules were requisitioned for the sake of the maps; which, on examination, proved to be no good.

Then came the big headlines in the extras. The flame of patriotism blazed to the skies—hot already with a sun of molten brass. Everything was complete, everything ready, even to the rails and ties and spikes on the roadbed—all the way to Del Rio.

Suddenly the joyful aria wavered and squeaked faintly. There was a rift in the lute. Only the first battalion was ordered out. Which first battalion—for the camp has four—no one could guess. For a long time the "mistake" idea held sway. It meant the "first brigade"—everybody—all the works.

Finally it came out. The first battalion of field artillery seems to have been among the chosen. They are very calm about it this afternoon. There is something almost uncanny in their Missourian attitude. To them the news is the "S. O. S." which being interpreted means something a little worse than "Same Old Story."

The first battalion of field artillery comprises batteries A and C of Savannah—the well-known Chatham artillery—and battery B of Atlanta. The command will go to the border with eighteen officers and about 450 men.

Atlanta artillery—four officers and 147 men—are ready to go. They have been ready for long weeks. It will take two or three days to load the guns on the flat cars and to secure the heavy equipment so that it will stand through the long journey southward.

Battery B's officers are Captain A. J. McBride, Jr., First Lieutenants R. J. Manum and F. E. Tidwell, and Second Lieutenants S. F. Dunn and J. W. LeCraw.

JAPAN TO DEMAND ADMISSION OF JAPS

Scott, secretary of the Carnegie peace endowment, and at dinner by Tokichi Tanaka, the Japanese charge. Japan is said to be deeply interested in the proposed trade war, as her participation in it is counted on to remove serious competition in China, her vital trade field.

The Pacific islands north of the equator, including the Caroline and Marshall groups, which were seized from Germany early in the war, will be Germany's view at the peace conference. Already, as shown, Japanese schools, banks and steamship lines have been established there and every effort made to make them part of the island empire.

OPEN DOOR IN CHINA FAVORED BY JAPAN.
New York, October 27.—That the open door in China is for the best interest of Japan, just as a peaceful Mexico, with thriving trade, is to the interests of the United States, was the declaration of Dr. T. Iyenaga here today at the luncheon of the Japan society to Baron Sakatani, former Japanese minister of finance, and representative of Japan at the recent economic conference of the allies. Dr. Iyenaga, lecturer and publicist, said the case of Mexico in respect to the United States while not exactly parallel to that of China and Japan, was somewhat similar.

Baron Sakatani, who spoke briefly, expressed the hope that America and Japan "will remain as they have been for the last sixty years, fast friends and co-operate in the development of commerce and resources of the regions bordering on the Pacific." Following him Dr. Iyenaga declared that he could speak more freely. He said he was not hampered in public utterance by being on a government mission as was Baron Sakatani.

"Japan has pledged herself to keep China's door open," Dr. Iyenaga said. "Will she ever violate that pledge? I believe not. Not only do international ethics demand good faith but the open door is in fact in consonance with what Japan's self-interest dictates. She has nothing to fear from an open competition, every advantage except capital being on Japan's side. The closing of China's door would spell disaster to Japanese commerce and industry."

Dr. Iyenaga's remarks were heartily applauded. At the conclusion of the speaking Baron Sakatani was elected a life member of the Japan society.

thereby, nor suspect its presence. The raiding officers, seasoned in the business, declared the still the most cleverly-concealed institution of its kind they had ever seen.

Robinson, despite the fact that no means existed by which the basement could have been entered save through his blacksmith shop, indignantly denied any knowledge of the presence of the still or of the existence of the trap door leading to it. Lovelace said he runs a coal yard, and shortly before the revenue officers arrived at the shop he had gone there to have a wagon repaired, and denied that he had any interest whatever in the place. Long between sobs, declared that he is a newcomer from South Carolina and that he had hired out to work for Robinson only about half an hour before he was caught in Uncle Sam's dragnet.

Revenue Agent Hamrick found a bribe fire in the furnace and each still was working full blast, distilling "singles" or "first run" beer. He broke through the rear door which opened to the outside, and while one officer guarded the prisoners, the other three poured out the contents of the stills, dismantled the plant, and confiscated whatever may prove valuable as evidence.

Irene Housworth, who, according to a sign on the front door, runs upstairs a rooming house "for men only," was not arrested, as the authorities have no evidence indicating guilt on her part.

The German village of Remborn has a linden tree that is said to be 1,200 years old.

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness, or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmit (double strength), take this home add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful 4 times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, nothing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat.

It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every one who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial. You will probably find it is just what you need.

COULD BEAT HANDS SHUCKING HIS CORN

At Least J. A. White Would Bet So After Being Relieved of Dyspepsia by Tanlac—Wife Also Benefited.

"My wife and myself have had stomach trouble," said J. A. White, residing on the Leestown Pike, R. F. D. No. 6, near Lexington, Ky., "and have both been nervous and all run-down. We could not eat anything and could not sleep at night—regular nervous dyspepsia. We tried many remedies without permanent benefit, until we heard of Tanlac. I got the medicine and we began taking it. We noticed immediate results. We are both greatly improved by Tanlac. We give all credit for our change of health to Tanlac. It is a remarkable medicine."

"I personally feel so good, that I told my hands a day or two ago that I could beat any of them shucking corn. I meant it, and believe I could have beat 'em all."

Of all the maladies that afflict humanity, chronic dyspepsia, such as Mr. and Mrs. White evidently suffered from, is probably the most prevalent; its causes and characteristics are diverse. The most skilled physicians have been unable to cope successfully with this almost universal malady; but Mother Nature herself, from her great natural forests, aided by what is deemed as the best skill in chemistry, has compounded in her wonderful laboratory the most beneficial remedy discovered for this ailment.

Hours might be consumed in describing the sufferings, mental and bodily, of the victims of chronic dyspepsia, and their absolute failure to heretofore, get relief. A morbid, unreal, whimsical and melancholy condition of mind, aside from the nervous physical suffering, is the usual state of the average dyspeptic, and life seems scarcely worth the living.

Tanlac was designed for the purpose of overcoming this distressing condition, in order that people suffering from this trouble might become like old-fashioned people—strong, sturdy and well.

Tanlac is sold in Atlanta exclusively by Jacobs Pharmacy—(adv.)

Look and Feel
Clean, Sweet and
Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folk who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, sour stomach, and instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—(adv.)

WILSON BEING QUERIED AS TO "DRY" ATTITUDE

Grand Junction, Colo., September 27. A second attempt was made tonight by the prohibition national campaigner to get President Wilson on record as to his stand on the liquor question. Having failed to receive a reply from the president to a telegram sent a week ago from San Francisco to the white house, calling his attention to the fact that California wets were quoting him as being opposed to prohibition, another telegram signed by Oliver W. Stewart, chairman of the dry campaign committee, was addressed to the executive tonight at Shadow Lawn.

It repeated that the California wets were using his name to aid them in their fight, called his attention to the first telegram and wired that an answer would reach the prohibition train at Ogden any time tomorrow.

"The prohibition party train now is in Colorado where a state-wide fight is on," the telegram said. "We will make other states where contests are pending. Hope you will authorize us to deny claims of saloon advocates that you are opposed to state-wide prohibition."

Both J. Frank Hanly and Ira Landrith, the prohibition national candidates, on their trip through northwestern Colorado today urged prohibitionists to center their fire this fall on a proposed amendment declaring beer is non-intoxicating and therefore it is a violation of the present dry laws to sell it.

ACROSS THE CUMBERLANDS.

Alabama has laudably determined to share in the advantages which come from organized and co-operative road building.

The Fort Payne meeting, at which the Georgia-Alabama Highway association was organized the other day, was an epochal event in the good roads history of both states; in fact, of the southeast, because it means vastly more than the announced project of constructing a permanent passable highway between Rome, Ga., and Huntsville, Ala.

The real meaning of it is the assurance of the early construction of the imperatively needed link in the Dixie highway across the Cumberland mountains.

The Fort Payne meeting, with its result, stresses the fact better than anything else could do, that the Dixie highway is already in actual use. When tourists over the western route coming by way of Nashville found the Cumberland Gap just to the west of Chattanooga practically impassable they sought the best way through and found it by way of Huntsville, Ala. This travel opened the eyes of the people of that section to the possibilities before them. The outcome of it was the Fort Payne meeting at which 5,000 people gathered and announced their determination to build a good road from Huntsville to Rome.

And they propose to do this, notwithstanding the fact that Tennessee is likewise determined to open a travelable passage across the Cumberland mountains to the west of Chattanooga.

It was the travel which the Dixie highway brought through Huntsville from Nashville that may be considered directly responsible for the organization of the Georgia-Alabama Highway association and the good work it proposes to do.

This is just another evidence of the important and beneficent results which the whole territory adjacent to the Dixie highway may expect to obtain from it. Adjacent communities on every hand, seeing the splendid advantages it offers, will build connecting links that will command their share of travel.

Weak links in the main highway will not long remain so. Competition as keen as any experienced in business fields will command substantial road construction; for neglect and indifference, if there be any, must give way to ambitious effort of which there is enough to insure a Dixie highway from Chicago to Miami without a break in its possibilities for twelve months' travel under all sorts of weather conditions.

THE PRICE OF GOOD PAVING.

George Washington said that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." H. L. Collier, Atlanta's next street commissioner, and one of the city's leading civil engineers, says it is also the price of serviceable street paving.

In a letter to The Constitution, appearing elsewhere on this page, Mr. Collier joins in the chorus of Atlanta taxpayers who, bled through shoddy and shabby, slipshod, makeshift street paving, have written and spoken phrases in high praise of this newspaper's crusade for a better order of things in the future.

Especially does this street pavement expert commend The Constitution's editorials on street pavements and the stand taken by Asa G. Candler, our next mayor, as expressed by him in a recent interview, all of which, says Collier, "are along the right lines."

Collier, as does The Constitution, Mr. Candler and all good citizens who have given the matter any thought, would have no second-rate work done in Atlanta. Atlanta is not a second-rate city; and the best is none too good for her.

He would have good, substantial work done on our streets, from the bedrock up, and none other. It is impossible, he declares, "to hold a smooth surface on a pavement built upon a faulty foundation," and he says that other cities fare better than Atlanta in pavement matters simply because they adopt better quality of paving materials and construct their pavements under "more carefully-drawn specifications and competent inspection."

In those words he gets at the very nub of Atlanta's difficulty, and he puts the cap-sheaf on by saying that "eternal vigilance" is just as essential in the construction of a durable pavement as is material of the first class.

ORPHANS' HOME WORK DAY.

With plenty in the land and prosperity written upon the countenance of practically every Georgia artisan, professional and business man, the Decatur Orphans' Home "work day," Saturday, should prove to be an unbounded success.

Established forty-eight years ago, the home launched upon the noble work of caring for orphans and needy little outcasts, giving them their "chance," and making useful citizens of what otherwise, it is safe to say in most instances, would have been lost in the end among the flotsam and jetsam of humanity. It has thrown out the life-line to the helpless and needy, given them succor, the required "lift" and the rainy-day tide-over, guided them along correct lines until the little men and women should attain self-supporting capabilities. Some of Georgia's best citizens today, in fact, owe their "start" to this splendidly humanitarian orphanage. And Georgians should be ungrudging in their help of it.

Each year the institution has broadened its sphere of usefulness. When it opened forty-eight years ago it sheltered thirty little ones. Today it is "home" to 165, gathered in from the four corners of the state. It is a modern institution, conducted along modern lines of thought, and its policy is not to retain its wards as such within its imaginary "walls," but to find for them as early as possible suitable homes in private families, realizing as its managers do that home and family ties are necessary to the best development of character and youthful possibilities.

It is not much that the institution is asking; but what it gets must come from the public. It has a farm, orchard and dairy which makes it in a measure self-sustaining, and which power of self-support is increasing with the years. All that it is asking from the public next Saturday is that so many as will do so freely will give the institution the net proceeds from only one day's work. That is, if his day nets him, say, $2 or $3 or $5, his contribution in just that amount would be gratefully accepted.

Horace Mann once said: "I never meet a ragged boy in the street but I feel that I owe him a salute, for I know not what possibilities may be buttoned up under that shabby coat."

Prosperous Georgians, business men and other workers well might ponder that sentence next Saturday, conscious of the fact that in no better way could they expend a day's earnings toward prospecting for possibilities and bringing out whatever of good and future usefulness might be, and undoubtedly is, buttoned up under dozens of little coats out in the Decatur Orphans' Home.

Let everybody boost for the success of "work day."

OUR BETTER HEALTH.

Statistics gathered from cities and states with aggregate population of 67,000,000, or two-thirds of the whole people of the United States, show a marvelously decreasing death rate. Ten years ago the death rate for the United States, based upon canvassed areas, was 16.2 per 1,000 of population; last year it was 13.5 per 1,000.

Here is a decrease in a decade of three persons in 1,000, or approximately so, meaning an aggregate of some 300,000 less deaths among the entire population of the country, considered at 100,000,000.

This achievement is directly attributable to certain definite and positive causes. Atlanta has shared in the advancement. Recent statistics have shown a definite diminution in this city's death rate almost from year to year.

Concerning the nation-wide improvement in vital statistics, The New York Times says editorially:

The chief cause of the improvement has been progress in sanitation, in the use of those precautions and safeguards which are required for the prevention of diseases, especially those of an infectious character. We have profited by the results of scientific inquiry as to the origin and transmission of such ailments. Large and generous expenditures with concerted effort, have cut down in a few years by more than one-fifth the death rate for tuberculosis. Health officers have the support of the people. Pollution of water supplies at once excites public protest in these days, and there are few typhoid epidemics in comparison with the number twenty years ago. The press is always on guard. It will be admitted that its warnings and its constant dissemination of what may be called sanitary truths have been effective in promoting that death-rate reduction which official reports now disclose.

There is no doubt about the responsibility for this improvement resting largely with the press. Education upon lines of better sanitation have unquestionably proven effective. Not only have states and cities been induced to raise their sanitary standards, but the importance of sanitary methods and practices has been impressed upon the individual.

While communities may do much in the mitigation of disease, the greatest results in the direction of cutting down the death rate are to come through careful sanitary practices on the part of the individual.

People of today talk and practice sanitation more than at any time in the history of the world. They do it because they read about it; because the newspapers of the country have educated and are continuing to educate as to sanitary methods and the necessity for them.

The sanitary campaign is telling forcibly in the lowered death rate; but there is greater achievement yet ahead of it. We can cut off still more. But it rests with the individual to learn and know what is the right, the sanitary thing, and always to do it.

JUST FROM GEORGIA

When Morning Came.

I said to myself: "The Night's come down,
And I'm lost forever in Trouble Town,
And there's never a way
To the light of Day,
And never shall I hold hands with May!"

Then a Voice said: "Look the old times o'er;
To the wide world's end,
And didn't the light
Shine through the Night?
And the world roll 'round to the Morning bright!"

And then it was that my trouble seemed
Only the shadow of things I dreamed;
Saw Light descend
To the wide world's end
And the beautiful Morning was my friend!

Hearts and Stars.
This prose poem Night in the City, by Guido Bruno, in Bruno's Weekly: "Millions are happy in their beds. Millions are wretched in their beds. Millions are on the way to regrets and to unhappiness. Millions are wounded and sick. Millions are killing and stealing. Wrongs other millions. Some are starving, some have plenty. All need things and all deny things to others. All want money. All have hearts and they do not dare to listen to their own heart throbs. They look for money and want to buy love. Love gives love and money. To the portals of the City, up Fifth avenue leading to the indefinite; down Fifth avenue leading to the indefinite. And hearts and stars."

Some Time.
I. Some time ye shall find the way To the portals of the City, up Fifth avenue leading to the indefinite; down Fifth avenue leading to the indefinite. And hearts and stars."

But till then, sweetheart, I know God would have me love you so That that love alone would lead me Onward, where His stars would lead me. For Love so lights the every way Even God could never say him "Nay."

Matrimonially Speaking.
These paragraphs from Editor Gredig's Athens Daily Herald: "No matter how great a philosopher a man may be, he can't figure out how he happened to get married. 'The Chicago girl who, after a week, deserted the husband she secured by writing her name and address on an oatmeal box probably decided her marriage was a mushy affair.'"

The "Mocking" Bird.
I. Sweet bird, that trill in the autumn tide; Soft-throated poet of the long June day; I list thee while the perfumed hours abide, And when the star-lit calm reflects thy lay.

II. No "mocking" in thy wondrous wealth of song, No gleam of song-craft, until thee unheard; No plebeian piping hath thou in thy throng; Of weird, wild ditties, thou sweet Eden bird!

Nothing at All!
Here's a good one, from our paragraphic friend of The Washington Post: "The figure of a married man in levying the income tax, but what has a married man to do with his income?"

A Joyous Text.
Autumn finds us feelin' fine; With the country right in line! Now's your time to rise and shine!

The New Drink.
On Judd Lewis' authority we have this: "The latest fashionable drink is half a glass of beer, and the other half is when the glass filled up with Circle 'A' Ginger Ale. Even though Fashion did put the strap on the back of the fat man's coat, and will doubtless have the strap on the back of the stout man's coat, it does something good occasionally."

Novel Church Social For Friday Evening At Christian Church

In planning the program for the big reception to be given Friday evening, September 29, at 8 o'clock, by the Bible School of the First Christian church, the committee has endeavored to get entirely away from the regular school and church socials, and give its guests something different. This it promises to do, and a whole lot of genuine surprises and interesting stunts are in store for those who attend.

The primary object of the entertainment is to bring out on this occasion college students of the city, both young men and young women, and to give them a social and fraternal gathering in the city as well as strangers to the members of the Sunday school. It is not at all necessary that these young people be acquainted with anyone in the school; they are urged and requested to come for that purpose—to get acquainted. They will find a cordial welcome, a hearty handshake, and lots of fun. They will also find a place where they can form pleasant and homelike church association.

The program includes some splendid musical numbers, which will be presented in a variety of ways, and the usual set formalities of a musical program. There will be several "side shows" of a more or less mysterious nature, and fun and frolic will be the rule of the evening.

Of special interest will be the refreshment features which will also bear out the idea of "something different." For the hungry there will be sandwiches and wieners served from a real wieners stand. And for the thirsty there will be delicious cold punch in plenty served by attractive young ladies from the city and the country.

There will be no charge for anything in connection with the entertainment; it will be entirely free, and the reception committee will be on the lookout for visitors all the evening.

Town to Lose Shipwrecked Electric Plant.

As a result of the war, Ocus, Guatemala, will lose its novel electric lighting plant. Nine years ago a liner went ashore near the town and, when it was decided not to refloat the ship, the chief engineer ordered the townpeople and arranged to furnish them with electric lights. The wiring and equipment inside the vessel were taken out and used to distribute electricity about the town. Then wires were strung over the side of the vessel, the plant inside the boat, which was uninjured, was started and Ocus experienced the thrill of its life.

The ladies of the town are saddened just now, however, over the prospects of losing their faithful engineer and their shipwrecked lighting plant. The owners of the vessel have lost no vested right in the ship and since the war has raised the value of vessels, they believe it would be profitable to dig a canal beneath the ship and refloat it.

Felder Analyzes the Tennessee Decision Restoring Locker Clubs

Editor Constitution: I request space in your paper to comment upon the article appearing on the front page of your Sunday paper under the headlines, "Locker Law Held Unconstitutional; Tennessee Supreme Court Decides Lockers, etc., May Be Maintained."

Neither the headlines nor the body of your article state the grounds upon which the decision of the court was based, and your Georgia readers, who are much interested in the subject matter, may erroneously conclude that the Georgia prohibition statute may be obnoxious to the same constitutional provision.

Such is not the case. The right of the state in the exercise of its police powers to prohibit the "keeping or serving" intoxicating liquors in social clubs was in no wise involved in the Tennessee case passed upon by its supreme court.

But two questions were presented or passed upon by the court, viz.: First, that the act was passed in violation of certain rules of the senate and was, therefore, void. This was overruled. Second, that the act violated the provision of the constitution, article II, section 17, that "no bill shall become a law which embraces more than one subject, that subject to be expressed in the title."

It was held that the act under attack contained a subject not at all expressed in the title; was broader than the title, and was, therefore, void because contrary to the provision of the constitution.

I am glad to say that there appears no such inferiority in our Georgia prohibition statute. I am slowly but surely recovering my strength, and the longer I shall be able to like a strong man from his couch of fever" to take up once again, with increased energy and enthusiasm, the fight against the infamous "liquor bunnies."

New Preacher Is Welcomed And Old Pastor Is Told Farewell by Congregation

Rev. B. L. Ayers was formally installed as pastor of the Cavalry Baptist church last night at a service which was in the nature both of a welcome to Rev. and Mrs. Ayers and a farewell to Rev. and Mrs. William J. Campbell and family, who are leaving the city for the retirement past of the church.

Dr. J. J. Hall, secretary of the Georgia Peace society, presided, and made a pleasing address on "The Duties of the Church to its Pastor." Other addresses were made by J. C. Harrison, who extended the new pastor the church's welcome; J. W. Awtry, who spoke on behalf of the Sunday school, and J. V. Tarver, who spoke for the new members.

The ladies of the church presented Rev. and Mrs. Campbell a handsome Victrola, which they will take with them on their contemplated tour of China. The presentation speech was made by the new pastor.

Benefit War Pictures Will Be Shown Sunday

War in all its horrors and romance in all its charm are promised in the motion pictures "A Born Warrior," and its sequel, "Exiled," which are to be shown at the Piedmont theater Sunday from 2 until 11 p. m. for the benefit of the Red Cross fund. The exhibition, which will be under the direction of Dr. F. E. May, representative for Georgia for the fund for relief of Belgium, has been arranged in the hope of securing income from the pages of French history. The film depicts in faithful detail the life of the great Napoleon, one of the most distinctive figures in French history. Through the untold sufferings of children and the fact that the Piedmont is one of the most comfortable and centrally located of theaters, Dr. May is expecting an unusually large attendance Sunday.

Dr. L. G. Hardman Spent $19,976.08 Seeking Office

According to his report of expenses, filed with the comptroller general yesterday, Dr. L. G. Hardman spent $19,976.08 on his recent campaign for the governorship. Dr. Hardman was the first of the gubernatorial candidates to comply with the law and file his statement of expenses. The time limit expires October 2.

When Dr. Hardman was a candidate two years ago he spent $14,438.88, making a total of $34,414.96 for the two campaigns. The comptroller general's office is in receipt of the following expense accounts from candidates for other offices:

William A. Wright, re-elected comptroller general, $721.11; M. L. Brittain, re-elected state superintendent of schools, $190; A. H. Henslee, unsuccessful candidate for prison commissioner, $699.97; J. P. Peoples, defeated for state railroad commissioner, $776; for county of appeals, W. Stephens, $1,689.73; Roscoe Luke, $378.20; Henry S. Jones, $1,204.58; O. H. B. Bloodworth, $1,206.07; A. W. Corbett, $780.48.

Retail Merchants Invited to Attend Ad Men's Luncheon

All the retail merchants of the city are invited to attend the Ad Men's club luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today, at the Ansley hotel. Joel Hunter, public accountant, will speak on "Proper Systems of Accounting for Retail Merchants."

As this is a subject that interests all business men it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand. F. B. Bishop, chairman of the program committee, has requested that reservations be made early this morning with him for the luncheon.

Besides Mr. Hunter's speech, Dr. K. G. Matheson, president of the Georgia School of Technology, will talk for five minutes on things of interest to Ad men.

Some novel stunts in the way of entertainment have been planned. W. S. Wardlaw will be seen in one of his comedy sketches.

Captain Joyner Home After Trip to Albany

Captain W. R. Joyner, state fire inspector, returned yesterday from a trip to Albany, where he had assisted in securing an indictment for arson against E. A. Manning, a merchant of that place, whose store had burned down last June under circumstances of suspicion. Captain Joyner investigated the case and the arrest and indictment of Manning followed.

Aerial Observations.

(From The American Boy.) To become a skilled aerial observer requires no small amount of training. Even the most experienced aerial photographer has to depict objects as they look from above, the untrained observer several thousand feet above the ground. The objects are not to be distinguished as they really are. The earth assumes a very queer appearance, and the objects are not to be distinguished as they really are. Judge Harwell Voluntarily Withdrew Use of His Name

In The Constitution's report from Macon of the convention proceedings yesterday morning an unfortunate tangle of words in the transmission over the wires did an injustice to Judge Frank Harwell.

The Constitution's report stated, with reference to the supreme court judgeship, that H. H. Dean, the Dorsey floor manager, made a motion that Judge Harwell refused to permit the use of his name in this connection, which motion carried, whereupon Judge Harwell, in a brief address, withdrew.

As our correspondent's report started from Macon, it stated that Mr. Dean, in an interval of the convention's proceedings, when the clerks were counting the result of an appeals court judge ballot, moved that while the convention was waiting, it hear from Mr. Dorsey's campaign manager, who was entitled to so much credit for the Dorsey victory.

The convention very promptly adopted the motion, and Chairman Flynn, accordingly, introduced Judge Harwell, who paid a glowing tribute to the convention's nominees, discussed the significance of the campaign and the result, and then, in conclusion, briefly referred to the fact that the subject of the motion had been mentioned in connection with the supreme court nomination against the governor's appointee, he had, upon reflection, concluded not to permit his name to go before the convention, though he took advantage of this opportunity to make expression of his cordial appreciation to those whose friendly interest had been so warmly manifested in his behalf.

The address was well delivered and cordially received and upon its conclusion Judge Harwell was given a gratifying ovation.

Issuing Patents Faster Than Ever Before

Business hasn't been rushing at a livelier rate anywhere than it has in Washington in the bureau of patents. It is not due to the war or to any remarkable increase in the number of inventive geniuses, although the latter are by no means falling off, but simply because haste has been installed whether procrastination was the enemy or not. Patent office is no longer the dried and dreary place reeking with ancient dreams and antique business methods that once upon a time it was noted for. Not any more.

New life, hope and industry have been introduced under the direction of Secretary Lane, this service being a branch of the interior department. Intelligent study has supplanted lax methods and provoking delays. Almost twice as much work has been done in this bureau under this administration as under any previous administration. Twenty thousand more patents were issued to American inventors during the past three years than in the preceding three years. There have not been more inventions, but the office has been catching up with back applications.

During the first half of this year, 22,801 patents were issued. For the first half of 1915 there were issued 21,774, and for the first half of 1914, 20,774. The highest number of patents ever issued in any one year before was 35,574 in 1909.

There has been house-cleaning all through the office. Patent claims that were made with years and many with poor excuses for lingering, have been forced to issue or abandonment.

Clay-Mining Industry Affected by European War.

According to the United States Geological Survey, department of the interior, the war in Europe has caused a shortage of high-grade fire clay formerly imported from Germany which has seriously affected the manufacture of crucibles and other refractory ware. Efforts have been successful, however, in locating a domestic supply of clays suitable for use in these industries in Arkansas, Illinois, Missouri and Ohio.

Clay mining in 1915 was more prosperous, especially during the latter part of the year, than in 1914. The quantity of clay marketed being 2,862,954 short tons, valued at $3,971,941, an increase of 153,000 tons in quantity and $215,373 in value of 1914. The value of 1,570,481 tons being reported for 1915, valued at $2,361,482, an increase of 161,014 tons and $214,205 over 1914. There were 28,931 tons of domestic kaolin, the purest form of clay marketed in 1915, valued at $241,520, a small decrease from 1914.

The imports of clay decreased considerably in quantity and value, and were the smallest in quantity since 1905 and the lowest in value since 1905.

All Export Records Broken.

American exports have finally passed the half billion a month mark. Statistics issued today by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, of the department of commerce, show that the exports for August amounted to $510,000,000, which is not only the record for this country, but for all countries. It is $55,000,000 higher than the previous high record, which was established in May, and $45,000,000 higher than the June total.

Imports, on the other hand, showed a decrease for August, the total being $199,244,391. This is a decline of $47,000,000 as compared with June, the record month. It is greater than the total for any previous August, however. The exports for the year ended with August totaled $4,750,000,000 and the imports $2,300,000,000, both totals being far in advance of those for a similar period in any previous year.

Of the August imports, 65.5 per cent entered free of duty, compared with 67.5 per cent in August, 1915.

The favorable trade balance for August was $311,000,000, comparing with an export balance of $119,000,000 in August, 1915, and an import balance of $19,000,000 in August, 1914. For twelve months to August 31, 1916, the export balance was $2,465,000,000, against $1,363,000,000 in the preceding year and $374,000,000 two years ago.

As this is a subject that interests all business men it is expected that a large crowd will be on hand. F. B. Bishop, chairman of the program committee, has requested that reservations be made early this morning with him for the luncheon.

Besides Mr. Hunter's speech, Dr. K. G. Matheson, president of the Georgia School of Technology, will talk for five minutes on things of interest to Ad men.

Some novel stunts in the way of entertainment have been planned. W. S. Wardlaw will be seen in one of his comedy sketches.

Flour Mills Use Electric Power.

The old-time grist mill with its moss-grown wheel and millrace, like the mule-drawn canal boat, is destined to be succeeded within a few years by the new creation efficiently operated by electric power. Research specialists of the General Electric company, after a thorough mail canvass of the milling industry, have authentic evidence showing the steady gains made by electricity in the field of milling operations at one time occupied exclusively by steam, water and gas power.

Six hundred and two milling firms are now using electricity in preference to steam, gas or even water power. Ten years ago the best list obtainable placed the total number of flour mills using electricity at less than 100. This means for every mill operated by electricity in 1906, at least six are equipped for using electricity today.

A tabulation of millers buying electricity and those generating it themselves clearly indicates that wherever possible private plants for generating electricity are being shut down and the necessary power bought at a reasonable rate from a central station. Of the 602 millers using electricity to grind or elevate grain and feed, 555 have adopted the bought-power system, while 252 still generate their own power.

Dalton Ceremonial Of Yaarab Temple To Be Held in Tent

Ringling Brothers' circus, which is scheduled to appear in this section of the country within the next two weeks, may be the biggest show of its kind on earth, but it will have nothing on the great Circus Ceremonial at Yaarab temple of the Mystic Shrine will hold in Dalton, Ga., on Thursday, October 5, because the latter will be something brand-new and unique.

Ringling may have a larger and more varied assortment of animals, but Yaarab's one old goat and pet camel can create more fun and perform more tricks than a whole circus menagerie, and if you don't believe it, just ask some fellow who would rather chase a knife and a monkey on a walk on his coat and see him smile in a reminiscent way.

While the "pote," Colonel Walter Pharaoh Andrews, has been in Minneapolis the past week arranging for quarters there for Yaarab temple during the meeting of the imperial council next summer, plans have been going forward for the pilgrimage Yaarab temple will make to Dalton next Thursday.

Illustrious Electrician Homer Park says it is the first time he has ever been called upon to wire a circus tent, but he will be there with the "juice" when the signal comes to turn it on. Illustrious Director Harry Goodhart has an option on three box cars of sawdust to scatter around in the tent, and the committee on the state of the inner man is looking after the peanut and pink lemonade supply.

The committee on "fresh meat" is exceedingly active and applications for permission to cross the hot sands are dropping into the recorder's office with a regularity that causes "Old George" to smile so broad that his mouth resembles the crack in the tarmac when a big slice has been removed.

Every time a real car comes in on the Southern railway Jerry Beam has Bill Waits set it over on a side track for the big special Yaarab train that will leave the depot at Dalton next Thursday morning at 8 o'clock, for the Oasis of Dalton. The "pote" writes from the "Windy City" that he would appreciate it very much if every member of Yaarab temple who intends making an event of it would phone the recorder or drop him a card so Jerry can tell how many cars will be needed; he's figuring on around 600, but if 1,000 nobles want to go it will be just what the doctor ordered. Also the barbeque committee is going Rome several better, and whether they do or do not it will be a pilgrimage worth making and will draw an immense crowd to the mountain oasis.

LIKE RIDDLES? THEN HERE'S ONE

There's No Prize Offered For an Answer But Every Child May Have Two Guesses.

Here's a conundrum for you, young-ster. What is it that is about 9 feet wide, 10 feet high, over a mile long and red and yellow in the early hours of the morning; yet which is anywhere from 10 to 60 feet high, across long and across wide and mostly white in the day time?

Why, it's the Ringling Brothers' circus. For just before dawn it is packed snugly aboard its four long, red and yellow trains, and by the time the sun is out, it is spread in its white tents over whole acres of ground. It is at once the most compact and the biggest thing of its kind in the world. Though the 1,370 people, hundreds of horses and more than 1,000 wild animals of the circus have cozy quarters, there is absolutely no waste space. As for the giant vans, every one of them is loaded to its utmost capacity and contains more to the square inch than the trunk of a feminine vacationist. So systematically is the Ringling Brothers' circus loaded on its trains that the addition of a single wagon or cage would mean the addition of another railway car. And already there are 59 such cars groaning under their loads of wonders. This season the big show carries more than 100,000 people over before. Because of the great war, many foreign performers have sought employment in this country. Their acts require the use of heavy properties such as immense aerial platforms and pedestals used in numbers in which horses play a part. Likewise, the new spectacle built around the fairyland theme of "Cinderella" is by far the most pretentious production yet attempted by the Ringling Brothers. The stage upon which a ballet of hundreds of girls dance the "Waltz of the Fairies" is of tremendous proportions, the scenery is on a scale only approached in size by grand opera productions, while the electrical effects require special dynamo and an unusual array of equipment. The addition of a complete animal circus, given as part of the main tent program, has in itself added several carloads of paraphernalia. Just how the vast amount of material is packed away and loaded is in itself of great interest, as will be apparent to those who give it attention when the Ringling Brothers come here to the old city, October 5-10, at Jackson and Old Wheat.

MACON ATTORNEY ENJOINS MAYOR AFTER ELECTION

Macon, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) J. E. O'Quinn, a Macon lawyer who was recently defeated in the election for civil service commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Captain R. C. Hazlehurst, has enjoined the mayor from swearing in W. R. Chapman, Jr., as mayor of the city, until after the election of November 7. Chapman, who was elected mayor by the voters, and Judge Mathews, in the Bibb superior court, has set the hearing on the petition for permanent injunction for Saturday, when it will be determined whether the election shall be declared null and void and a new election ordered.

DEKALB COUNTY FAIR PLANS TAKE SHAPE RAPIDLY

Decatur, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—The Dekalb County fair movement is going rapidly forward and things are being put in shape to hold one of the best fairs ever held in the county.

A big meeting will be held Friday night at the council chamber in Decatur. At this meeting the new committees will take up the work of making arrangements and deciding on the various features. Should the decision be made to hold the fair for more than one day tents will be secured to take care of the exhibits and a big tent will probably be one of the attractions.

The Dekalb has more fine poultry than any county in the south, and the poultry department of the coming fair is expected to be the best ever held in the state.

Lamar Law School at Emory University Opened Doors for First Time Wednesday

The L. Q. C. Lamar School of Law of Emory university opened its doors for the first time Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, with exercises held in a large tent on the campus between the Law and Theology buildings. Candler School of Theology at the same time began its second term as a branch of Emory university.

Bishop Candler, the chancellor of the university, presided, and opened the exercises with remarks on the history of Emory university. He said that a real university was a century plant and grew like one. He declared that he did not wish the idea to be gotten that this was the opening of the university. The school of liberal arts at Emory college, had been in operation since 1840; the School of Medicine, the Atlanta Medical college, since 1854, and the School of Theology was now beginning its third year of work.

After the opening remarks by the chancellor, the audience joined with the Emory quartet in singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," followed by a prayer, led by Dr. Robert Selby, of Mississippi.

After a selection by the quartet, Bishop Candler introduced the speaker of the occasion, Hon. Cone Johnson, of Texas, solicitor of the department of state at Washington, saying that Mr. Johnson had been asked to deliver the address on the occasion because he was "an old Emory man," and one of the great lawyers of the country, one of the many Georgians who had gone from Georgia to make Texas great.

Pays Tribute to Atlanta. Mr. Johnson prefaced his speech with a tribute to Atlanta's progress and enterprise, which had been instrumental in building the great university here. He declared that Georgia's great men have owed their greatness to Georgia's great women. He spoke of the part Georgians had played in the development of Texas, and told how the first flag of Texas had been made by the hands of a Georgia girl, and how Georgians had fought in the struggle for Texas independence. He then drew attention to the law of mutual contribution of one nation and one state to another, declaring that the establishment of the L. Q. C. Lamar School of Law would influence the south, but the whole country.

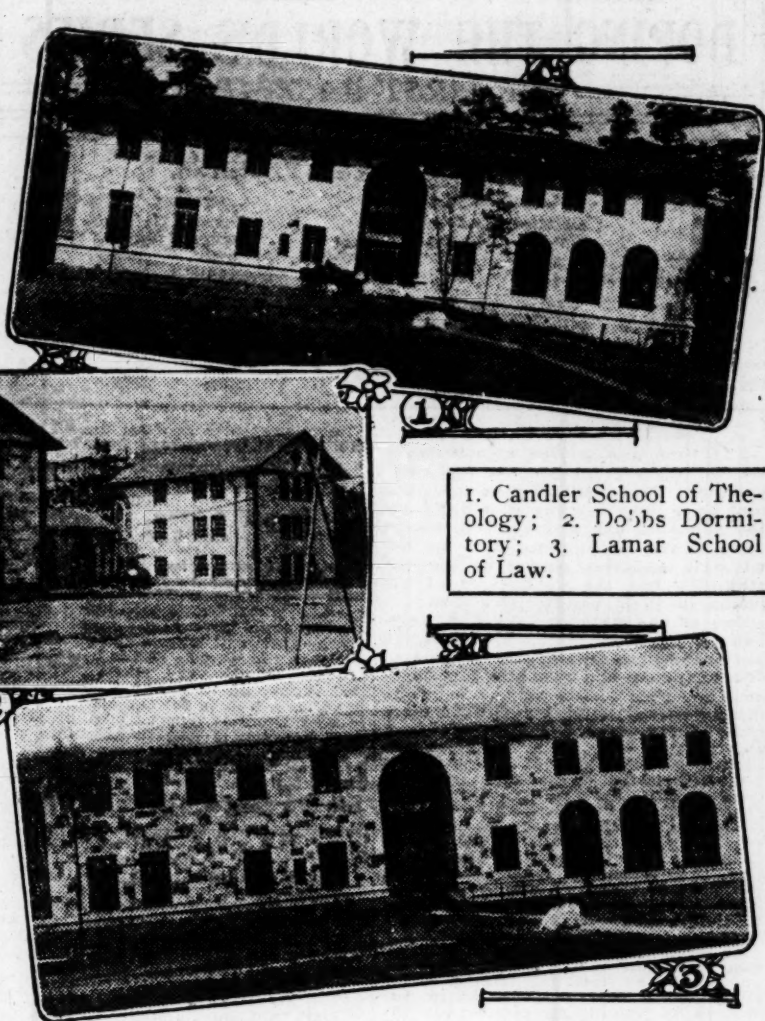

Mr. Johnson said that an institution like Emory under the control of the church would accomplish a world of good in that it meant by Christian education was that training for life which proceeds from the conviction that life is a divine thing and teaches the relationship of man to man and man to God. He said that he had no fault to find with the American idea of religious freedom and of the separation of church and state, for the sake of the state and much more for the sake of religion. He declared that there never was a time when orthodoxy in education and religion was more needed than at present.

Three Dimensions in Life. Mr. Johnson drew a comparison of a man's life and the New Jerusalem, of which it is said that its length and breadth and height are equal. A man's life, he said, is not the number of years, but how far he can project it with laudable ambitions and purposes.

He said: "Our narrow lives we necessarily draw the end of it closer. Too often our lives are but a single narrow plank on which we are ourselves and a few of our friends can walk. The wider gauge we are the surer are we to attain the goal we set for ourselves. A life to be great must be high and lofty—must have an overhead ceiling."

He then drew the application to the profession of law, describing the young barrister who has waited for a long time for his one case to come which is to put him in line for bigger things, but who yields to the temptation to use testimony which he believes his client has suborned, and wins the case, but in the end to sacrifice all that is best in his work, and find himself kneeling in prayer at the altar of his lowered ceiling until at last the ceiling comes down to completely block him at present.

The speaker expressed the prayer that Emory would never, under any circumstances, depart from the honor and high faith and principles of the old

Many Messages Read. At the close of the speech Bishop Candler read a number of congratulatory communications from South Carolina, Bishop A. W. Wilson, the senior bishop of the Methodist church, south; Bishop John C. Kligo, of the Methodist Episcopal church, north; Bishop E. E. Hoar, Judge Henry Wade Rogers of the Second circuit, and the United States court of appeals, Dr. E. B. Chappell, Sunday school editor of the Southern Methodist church, and finally a message from the South Carolina, and many other eminent men.

After the exercises on the campus the chancellor and the law faculty of the university gave a luncheon at the Druid Hills Golf club in honor of Mr. Johnson. The guests at this luncheon were the governor and executive officers of the state at the capitol, the judges of the supreme court, the judges of the court of appeals, the judges of the superior courts and the municipal courts, the federal courts and the United States district attorney, Hon. Hooper Alexander, the local trustees of the university, and the deans of the several departments. Senator Smith and Congressman Howard, and a few personal friends of Mr. Johnson. Seldom if ever has a more distinguished company of lawyers been gathered on such an occasion in Georgia.

Prominent Visitors Present. Among the prominent visitors present at the opening may be mentioned Governor Harris, Judge and Mrs. Joseph M. McCollough, from South Carolina, Rev. Thomas Ivey, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., Rev. John O. Willson, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, C. Mr. Forbes of Boston, Mass., Senator Hoke Smith, President Kennon G. NEGRO LYNCHED AFTER ATTACK ON WHITE GIRL

Bainbridge, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—If a lynching was ever an orderly affair, Decatur county furnished such an example at an early hour this morning when Moxie Shuler, a negro farm laborer, was executed without a dozen people in the county, outside the mob.

Shuler had attempted an attack upon the 14-year-old daughter of a well-known man residing in the Kendricks district, 12 miles west of town. Her screams caused the negro to flee, and a posse was started in pursuit about dark last night. Being unable to successfully follow him, Sheriff Martin was telephoned for and asked to bring his dogs.

The sheriff left Bainbridge at a late hour without knowing the nature of the crime with which the negro was charged and carried only one deputy. The negro was caught by Sheriff Martin's party about 2:30 o'clock this morning and carried to the house of the victim. Here he was identified, and as the posse was still in search, the officers decided it would be best to return before they learned of the capture.

Starting for town by a different road than the one by which they came, they were held up four miles out of town and asked to deliver the prisoner. The officers refused, and were overpowered by a mob with revolvers, beating shouguns and rifles. Deputy Cook was badly bruised in the scuffle. None of the party was recognized, and the officers came back to town realizing that the execution would be made before they could return with help.

"People coming in at an early hour drew attention to the fact that the negro was being followed by a mob. He went out to see the body as the lynch mob was being fired and no effort was made to mutilate the body. Mr. Johnson said that a law school in connection with a church institution was particularly fitting, since the study of law is not merely to make a man able to go out and practice, but to teach him the science of the source and relationships of persons to persons in the government. He said that the university on the selection of such an honored name for the school.

He declared that all the other governments of the monarchical kind suppress the individual and exalt the government, but that when the government was established this procedure was reversed. However, lately it had been necessary to take the hands of the government which had been bound in this way so that it might be able to protect a new sort of liberty. He closed his speech with an expression of the hope that Emory would always uphold the standards of Methodism in the south.

CATTS-KNOTT VOTES ARE BEING RECOUNTED

Democratic Nomination for Florida Governorship Not Yet Settled.

Jacksonville, Fla., September 27.—Should Sidney J. Catts receive the credit for the 69 votes said to have been cast for him in the LaCrosse precinct, Alachua county, June 6 and which were not counted because the inspectors failed to sign the returns, he will be 23 votes in the lead, unless further gains in recounts asked for and granted. V. Knott in the counties of Seminole, Hillsborough and Franklin, and a part of Alachua are made. Knott people are working on the theory that he will get the LaCrosse vote.

In the Alachua county precincts, the inspectors of 13 of the 24 precincts answered to the writ ordering recounts and tomorrow it is expected that arguments will be heard. In the 13 precincts that he reconquered a gain of 21 votes was recorded for W. Y. Knott. In Marion county Knott made a net gain of 21 votes today and yesterday in recounts in 13 precincts. The Knott people already a number of the precincts in 15 precincts, but the officials of the other two precincts are out of the state and recounts will not be made in these.

DEMOCRATS BADLY SPLIT. Tampa, Fla., September 27.—Call was issued by George P. Raney, chairman, for a meeting of the state democratic executive committee at Jacksonville, October 1, to discuss measures to aid in the election of nominees of the democratic party, national, state and county.

Mr. Raney says the republican party, encouraged by the fact that the democratic party is making a genuine effort to become a factor in Florida politics and that one content for the democratic nomination has declared his intention of running for governor whether pending county nomination or not.

ADVERTISING CLASS HEARS FINE ADDRESS BY DILLARD JACOBS

Dillard Jacobs, well-known advertising man, addressed the class in advertising and selling at the Tech School of Commerce last night on the subject of "The Preparation of Copy." This marks the beginning of a group of special lectures to be delivered the present winter before this class by the most prominent advertising men of Atlanta. It also gave the keynote of the practical to the entire series.

Plans are now rapidly assuming shape for an elaborate campaign for the marketing of a special commodity. This commodity will be chosen at random from the commercial world, and all the necessary steps for placing it upon the market will be undertaken. Every slightest detail will be observed, and no manufacturer with millions at stake would be more careful of methods and mediums than the young men of Tech's pure commercial class in their imaginary campaign.

Pryor Street Church To Fight Resignation Of Rev. J. E. Hemphill

The meeting of the Atlanta Presbytery at East Point, during next week, is expected to be a most interesting one. One of the important matters to come before the Presbytery is that of the resignation of Rev. J. Edwin Hemphill as pastor of the Pryor Street Presbyterian church. His resignation, which was tendered in response to a call from the Presbytery itself to take charge of its home mission work, the congregation has voted unanimously to non-concur in the resignation and has appointed a committee to protest against the dissolution of the pastoral relation. It has been pointed out that there are only three grounds on which the Presbytery has the constitutional right to dissolve the relation between a pastor and the church and that the call that has come to Mr. Hemphill is of such a nature that the Presbytery itself being the prosecutor of the call it is doubtful if it is qualified to pass as a tribunal on the dissolution in this instance.

Claimants Must Cover Expenses of Sending Stamps to Washington

A. O. Blalock, collector of Internal revenue, yesterday, upon instructions from Washington, sent out a general notice that claimants for refunds on revenue stamps purchased prior to the repealing of the emergency revenue law, as it applied to documentary and proprietary stamps, must accompany their claims with money enough to cover the expense of transmittal, by express, mail or registered mail, of their stamps to Washington, D. C.

The features of the law in question were repealed by congress September 8. Prior to that time many thousands of holders of stamps had been purchased through the local revenue office, and since the repeal of the law the government has been unable to refund all money originally paid for such stamps down to a minimum of $2 worth. The government has been unable to refund all money originally paid for such stamps down to a minimum of $2 worth. Plan Recruiting Station. Thomasville, Ga., September 27.—(Special.)—Thomasville will be made a recruiting station for the army, and it is probable that a good many recruits will be found to enlist. Already both Thomasville and the county are well represented in the companies at Macon from this section, although there is no company from the county itself. An officer has been here this week arranging for the station.

Allow County Officials To Use Stone Quarries For Stewart Ave. Work

Mayor Woodward Wednesday signed a resolution giving the county officials authority to use the city stone quarries for the purpose of getting material for resurfacing Stewart avenue. The resolution carries with it the authority to the county to use their own labor for any other labor they see fit in carrying out the necessary material. The paper does not provide for the expenditure of a cent on the part of the city, the mayor states positively. If it had any such provision he would not have signed it.

He vetoed two resolutions for street improvement on Ashby street and Warren avenue introduced in the last meeting of council by Councilman Johnson of the Fifth ward. The resolution as to Ashby street carried with it authority to resurface the street at a cost of $3,710. That for Warren avenue was to cost the city $50 for drain.

The Tech Yellow Jackets were driven through their hardest scrimmage of the year yesterday afternoon and every member of the varsity and scrub squads was given a chance to get into the fray, the coaches changing frequently so as to keep up the speed.

"Speed 'er up," was the war cry of the coaches. "Into 'em fast," was Froggie Morrison's call as he called his signals, and the team did both. The boys responded nobly until it was a tired lot that quit when it was too dark to see further.

NATIONAL PENNANT SERIES STARTS

WORLD'S SERIES STARTS OCTOBER 7

Ban Johnson Sets Date for Opening Game—Arrangements Will Be Delayed Until the Last.

Chicago, September 27.—The world's series will open on Saturday, October 7, according to President E. B. Johnson, of the American league, who, as a member of the national commission, is today to begin preparations for the series. With the race uncertain as to its final action has been taken yet, the national commission, Mr. Johnson said.

"I am certain that the world's series will start on October 7," Johnson said.

"The contestants might be willing to begin October 6, but I hardly think so. The time has arrived when we can begin to get down to real comparisons. The elimination of the clubs that have been battling so royally for the pennant has arrived, and as we come to the an-against-man figures, we have a better chance to see the strengths and the weaknesses of the teams in their various positions."

One of the striking things in baseball for many years has been that the National league appears to be able to field a team that is stronger than any time a club needs one, while the American league teams have more trouble with that position than with any other. With the exception of the Pittsburghers, the National league clubs are strong, while some American league outfits have struggled for years with mediocre guardians of the initial sack. This season came Slater as a regular first-sacker and rather changed the rule, but it is the exception. So, when we come to compare the first basemen of the rival clubs for the world's championship we discover the National league having the stronger men in that position.

This may prove rather a surprise to some students of the game, since we know that in the past, the National league has been the weaker of the two, and slumping and slipping, in the process of rebuilding almost all the seasons. In time, of course, it will bring them to the front and probably just when the now strong subs of the American league are coming to the front.

It happens this way in baseball, because owners are slow and reluctant about letting their good old men go, even when they must know that they are being replaced by a better man in the reserves, after starting to go back, and the owners hang onto him, and he hangs onto them.

In the comparison of the Red Sox and the National league clubs as to the first basemen, the National league Sox do not find themselves shown up at all. Hoblitzel is not a great first baseman, but he is a steady, reliable, and he can hit. He is not a great first baseman, but he is a steady, reliable, and he can hit.

By Hugh S. Fullerton.

The time has arrived at last when we can begin to get down to real comparisons. The elimination of the clubs that have been battling so royally for the pennant has arrived, and as we come to the an-against-man figures, we have a better chance to see the strengths and the weaknesses of the teams in their various positions.

One of the striking things in baseball for many years has been that the National league appears to be able to field a team that is stronger than any time a club needs one, while the American league teams have more trouble with that position than with any other. With the exception of the Pittsburghers, the National league clubs are strong, while some American league outfits have struggled for years with mediocre guardians of the initial sack. This season came Slater as a regular first-sacker and rather changed the rule, but it is the exception. So, when we come to compare the first basemen of the rival clubs for the world's championship we discover the National league having the stronger men in that position.

This may prove rather a surprise to some students of the game, since we know that in the past, the National league has been the weaker of the two, and slumping and slipping, in the process of rebuilding almost all the seasons. In time, of course, it will bring them to the front and probably just when the now strong subs of the American league are coming to the front.

It happens this way in baseball, because owners are slow and reluctant about letting their good old men go, even when they must know that they are being replaced by a better man in the reserves, after starting to go back, and the owners hang onto him, and he hangs onto them.

In the comparison of the Red Sox and the National league clubs as to the first basemen, the National league Sox do not find themselves shown up at all. M'CONNELL'S RETURN HELPS RED AND BLACK

One Hole in Line Stopped Up. Donnelly's Punting Makes Team More Formidable.

Athens, Ga., September 27.—(Special.) The return of Bright McConnell to the University has brightened the hopes of the Red and Black considerably. The big tackle plugs a hole in one side of the line and with Captain Thrash working at the other tackle, gives the Georgians a splendid pair of tackles.

But McConnell's return is not the only good news. The showing of Bill Donnelly, the Phillips-Exeter star, has been the model player. This lad is playing in the backfield and doing the punting and his long kicks have given the Red and Black something they have lacked for some time, a competent punter.

The team as a whole is looking better daily and the Citadel game Saturday is not looked forward to with as much fear and trembling as it was at first. Only straight formations will be used in this game, but the Georgians will drive hard so as not to be caught napping.

That Donnelly will earn a regular place in the backfield is certain and the Georgia backfield has been materially strengthened as the result.

Al G. Field Minstrels.

(At the Atlanta.) The ability of Al G. Field to present minstrelsy each year in new and novel forms is what has enabled him to make the Al G. Field Greater Minstrels the "biggest, oldest and best." He has carried this principle of development into the details, as well as into the big things of the program, and this is emphasized frequently during the performance this year. An instance is a monologue presenting a pithy history of American minstrelsy. It is given by the intercomedian while changes of settings are being made. The monologue is so devised and delivered that it is as interesting as any other part of the program and the approval of the audience is always marked. The Al G. Field

"The Lilac Domino."

(At the Atlanta.)

Andreas Dippel will present "The Lilac Domino," Charles Cavillier's great three-act musical success of beauty, fun and fashion, at the Atlanta Monday and Tuesday, seats going on sale today. Some of the finest voices of the age are heard in the production and a coterie of the loveliest young girls imaginable make up the chorus. A Tuesday matinee will be given.

"The Girl Without a Chance."

(At the Grand.)

"He's gone," said Fred Hubbard, who portrays the role of the bumbling Irishman, Jerry Sullivan, that is to be seen at the Grand all this week. This remark coming as it does just as the police lieutenant is killed by "Dago Joe," may sound sacrilegious but it serves excellently to relieve the tenacity of the dramatic situation that is taking place at the time "Jerry" makes it and the comedy touch to the big dramatic max in "The Girl Without a Chance." Comedy is abundant throughout the entire four acts. Matinee for the balance of the week will be given on Thursday and Saturday.

Janet Adair.

(At the Forsyth.)

Songs of Janet Adair, whose miss who has thoroughly captivated Atlanta audiences, make a feature of the Forsyth Keith vaudeville bill this week that is about to set a popularity record. Miss Adair, who is assisted by pretty Miss Adelphi at the piano, begins her "song recitations" with a happy little melody about "There's a Little Bit of Bad in Every Good Little Girl," and from there on through her story of the Honolulu maiden who had a "Come and Kiss Me—Don't You Dare to Miss Me" in her high, the palms belong to the singer. Miss Adair's offering is one of seven acts that make up a bill critics have declared the season's best. Among other acts Manager Hickman offers Jasper, known as "The Thinking Dog," Miss Albertina Raach and her "Corypheus Beautiful," in a ballad of the season's best. Other acts include a popular French comedienne, and others.

New Program.

(At the Piedmont.)

With five grand new vaudeville turns and an entire change of picture today at the Piedmont the mid-week show will be ushered in with a Calabash and Calabash will present a knockabout comedy act. Everett and White do a little talking, singing and acrobatic dancing. The Transfused Sisters, who have been going big in the north, have an elaborate act. The Transfused Sisters, who are eccentric entertainers and the Frequent-Merchandise variety act, now being shown in novel illusions, carrying with them special scenery. Advance notices upon the combinations appearing here today are most complimentary and an exceptionally good program is looked for the balance of the week.

Douglas Fairbanks.

He wrote the scenario for "The Good Bad Man" himself and turned out a western drama which for thrills has few equals. On Friday Cleo Ridgely and Wallace will be presented in "The Selfish Woman."

William S. Hart.

(At the Criterion.)

William S. Hart in his latest offering, "The Dawn Maker," is at the Criterion today and Friday. "The Dawn Maker" gives Hart a chance to show his versatility as an actor, and he looks the half-breed, Joe Bluff, to the life. The versatile and beautiful Anita King, the Paramount girl who recently scored such a success in her play, "The Race," founded upon her famous trans-continental automobile trip, plays the part of the young girl upon whom Anton wishes to revenge himself for her father's crime. The film is actually suited to Miss King's appealing personality and the Lasky company feels that they have made an excellent selection in co-starring these artists.

"Chattels."

(At the Strand.)

Atlanta movie fans will have their first chance today to see E. H. Sothern on the screen. The famous Shakespearean actor, recognized as the foremost on the American stage for many years, comes to the Strand theater in "Chattels," a tremendous Viennese tale of the picture. "E. H. Sothern is not selling under false colors when he is called 'America's most distinguished actor.' This being true, it goes without saying that he has carried with him to the screen all the power, prestige and skill the phrase indicates. At a private screening of his first motion picture, 'Chattels,' given yesterday, he proved conclusively his right to the title to the new domain of the camera. The review continues: 'He is the same dignified, deliberate actor that America had long been proud of. As the great star's picture unrolls part on the screen, the spectator unquestionably harks back to some of the characters he made famous on the stage. He makes love like Romeo when he wooes the beautiful Peggy Myland. He is as hearty as Rupert in 'The Proud Prince,' in his dealings with those he considers beneath him. He is forceful by the slightest contraction of the brows. Not only will Atlanta rejoice to see him on the screen, but amusement lovers may well remember that this is their only chance to view Sothern at all, as he has definitely renounced the spoken drama for the silent.

Purchasing Power

We have sold the little apartment house offered a few days ago. We would be making more sales if people only realized what a good time it is to buy.

Some of them are realizing it—they see that the same piece of ground can be bought for half as many bales of cotton, or half as many shares of Steel. By comparison, real estate is today the cheapest thing to invest in.

Andreas Dippel will present "The Lilac Domino," Charles Cavillier's great three-act musical success of beauty, fun and fashion, at the Atlanta Monday and Tuesday, seats going on sale today. This is the greatest musical offering of the season and is guaranteed to charm any kind of an audience and every member of an audience. It embraces more popular features than would be thought possible in one evening's entertainment. Twenty wonderful songs carry a story of romantic love to a musical finish. Some of the finest voices of the age are heard in the production and a coterie of the loveliest young girls imaginable make up the chorus. A Tuesday matinee will be given.

"He's gone," said Fred Hubbard, who portrays the role of the bumbling Irishman, Jerry Sullivan, that is to be seen at the Grand all this week. This remark coming as it does just as the police lieutenant is killed by "Dago Joe," may sound sacrilegious but it serves excellently to relieve the tenacity of the dramatic situation that is taking place at the time "Jerry" makes it and the comedy touch to the big dramatic max in "The Girl Without a Chance." Comedy is abundant throughout the entire four acts. Matinee for the balance of the week will be given on Thursday and Saturday.

Songs of Janet Adair, whose miss who has thoroughly captivated Atlanta audiences, make a feature of the Forsyth Keith vaudeville bill this week that is about to set a popularity record. Miss Adair, who is assisted by pretty Miss Adelphi at the piano, begins her "song recitations" with a happy little melody about "There's a Little Bit of Bad in Every Good Little Girl," and from there on through her story of the Honolulu maiden who had a "Come and Kiss Me—Don't You Dare to Miss Me" in her high, the palms belong to the singer. Miss Adair's offering is one of seven acts that make up a bill critics have declared the season's best. Among other acts Manager Hickman offers Jasper, known as "The Thinking Dog," Miss Albertina Raach and her "Corypheus Beautiful," in a ballad of the season's best. Other acts include a popular French comedienne, and others.

With five grand new vaudeville turns and an entire change of picture today at the Piedmont the mid-week show will be ushered in with a Calabash and Calabash will present a knockabout comedy act. Everett and White do a little talking, singing and acrobatic dancing. The Transfused Sisters, who have been going big in the north, have an elaborate act. The Transfused Sisters, who are eccentric entertainers and the Frequent-Merchandise variety act, now being shown in novel illusions, carrying with them special scenery. Advance notices upon the combinations appearing here today are most complimentary and an exceptionally good program is looked for the balance of the week.

A stirring drama with invulnerable thrills "The Good Bad Man," which is at the Georgian, who stars in "The Good Bad Man," giving able support to the great popular star, Douglas Fairbanks. In addition there will be shown another two-reel number, "The Who's GUILTY?" series, which are equal to many of the best pictures now being made. "Who's GUILTY?" film stories are each complete in themselves, and one of them is being shown every Thursday at the Georgian. Douglas Fairbanks, who stars in "The Good Bad Man," has become in his short film experience one of the best of the screen. He wrote the scenario for "The Good Bad Man" himself and turned out a western drama which for thrills has few equals. On Friday Cleo Ridgely and Wallace will be presented in "The Selfish Woman."

William S. Hart in his latest offering, "The Dawn Maker," is at the Criterion today and Friday. "The Dawn Maker" gives Hart a chance to show his versatility as an actor, and he looks the half-breed, Joe Bluff, to the life. "The Dawn Maker" is a story of the frozen north, chronicling a military struggle between two races and a quarter-breed Indian, in whose veins runs the blood of two races and in whose mind surges an ambition to uplift his red brothers.

Theodore Roberts and Anita King in the Jesse L. Lasky production "Anton the Terrible," will be the attraction at the Strand today and Friday. "Anton the Terrible" is a story of this thrilling drama of Russian political intrigue was written by Jules Eckert Goodman from Thomas H. Ince's story. The versatile and beautiful Anita King, the Paramount girl who recently scored such a success in her play, "The Race," founded upon her famous trans-continental automobile trip, plays the part of the young girl upon whom Anton wishes to revenge himself for her father's crime. The film is actually suited to Miss King's appealing personality and the Lasky company feels that they have made an excellent selection in co-starring these artists.

(At the Strand.) Atlanta movie fans will have their first chance today to see E. H. Sothern on the screen. The famous Shakespearean actor, recognized as the foremost on the American stage for many years, comes to the Strand theater in "Chattels," a tremendous Viennese tale of the picture. "E. H. Sothern is not selling under false colors when he is called 'America's most distinguished actor.' This being true, it goes without saying that he has carried with him to the screen all the power, prestige and skill the phrase indicates. At a private screening of his first motion picture, "Chattels," given yesterday, he proved conclusively his right to the title to the new domain of the camera. The review continues: "He is the same dignified, deliberate actor that America had long been proud of. As the great star's picture unrolls part on the screen, the spectator unquestionably
